Bargain-Hungry Couples Swarm Furniture Auction

BIDDERS and curious spectators crowded up to have a close look at hundreds of items auctioned at Westgate Home Furnishings Saturday. Auctioneer Norman Levy's brisk patter and polished style kept the throng amused while the bargain-hunting went on.

Westgate Home Furnishings had a sale Saturday in which the customers set the prices themselves and crowds flocked to the store.

The Arlington Heights furniture store recently underwent an assignment of assets for benefit of creditors and an auction was held Saturday to dispose of the store's stock of goods.

A CHICAGO auctioneer, Norman Levy, 100 W. Monroe, kept up a brisk patter which brought chuckles from the shoppers and the browsers. At one point Levy glanced at a wailing infant being carried by a young mother and snapped, "Don't these kids ever take naps?"

Another time Levy bantered in mock seriousness: "Mothers, I'll shut down for half an hour if you'll take the kids home and come back."

The auctioneer had the sale moving briskly and didn't dally long over bids. Some items went for close to retail prices, particularly smaller items, such as a bed lamp which brought $3. There were a number of bargains in higher-priced goods, however, including a handsome kneehole desk gaveled down for $30 and a modern desk for $17.50.

replacements for a sofa or chairs made lumpy or weak-limbed by boisterous children or else hoping to brighten up the living room on a slim budget.

A few persons carried lists of prices which they checked against bids, but an Arlington Heights policeman on duty reported that few dealers stayed around long after the sale opened.

Landau and Heyman, owners of the Westgate shopping center, have not disclosed plans for leasing of the quarters occupied by the furniture store for nearly two years.

Kill Plan to Amend Manager Ordinance

Proposal Dropped By Hoover

A summer-long wrangle over a proposal to amend Arlington Heights village manager ordinance ended Tuesday with Mayor Carlisle the victor over opposition leader Trustee John Hoover.

HOOVER MADE a final attempt to push his amendment through at Tuesday's board session. But he did not force the measure to a vote after he apparently determined in the discussion that he could not muster the necessary four votes.

Hoover said one of his supporters was not at the meeting. The only trustee absent was Frederick A. Weber. Hoover questioned another trustee, Robert H. Bukowski, and heard that Bukowski still opposed the plan. Hoover would have needed the votes of the other three trustees present for passage, in addition to his own, and he decided to "let it die then" rather than force a test vote.

Mayor Carlisle had opposed insertion of a qualifications clause into the manager ordinance ever since Hoover first proposed the idea early in the summer.

HOOVER ADMITTED Tuesday that the timing of his last attempt at passage was "not good." A citizens' committee seeking a replacement for resigned F. R. Buechner has already completed taking applications and first-round eliminations. The trustee was confident any remaining applicants would meet his requirements.

The amendment would have demanded that a village manager have either (A) a bachelor's degree, or equivalent educational credit, in public administration, or (B) three years experience as a municipal manager.

Mayor Carlisle's position throughout the controversy was that spelling out of qualifications in an ordinance would hamstring the village board in its selection of a manager.

A by-product of the adoption of the amendment would have been the automatic elimination of J. Ward Wright, acting village manager, from consideration for the post of permanent manager.

IN OTHER actions, the board:

—Passed an ordinance creating the post of full-time fire chief, amended a law setting up rules for connection to village water mains and brought age limits for sale of alcoholic beverages to females into conformity with state law.

—Rejected by a 4-1 vote rezoning of a part of the Laura Meyer property, 104 S. Wilke, to a commercial classification. The property would have been the site of a new A and P supermarket. Voting to overturn a "yes" recommendation of the zoning board of appeals were Trustees Bukowski, Hoover, Kurtz and Prunty; voting for the rezoning was Millay.

—Heard the village given a clean bill of financial health in the annual audit report of Ernst and Ernst.

—Decided to postpone for a week a decision on a proposed purchase of a house adjoining village hall for the sum of $8,500.

Businessmen Have Faith In Future of Arlington

Downtown Arlington Heights can successfully compete with any new shopping centers, provided downtown owners and merchants and the village set to work with a will.

THAT SUMS UP the attitude of representatives of the downtown business community who this week were asked their reactions to announcements of two major shopping centers in the northwest area.

Carson Pirie Scott and co. revealed last week that it hopes to develop an 80-acre shopping center at Rand and Elmhurst rds. and New York interests the week before told of plans for a 60-acre center at Rand and Central rds. Both proposals hinge upon acceptance of their plans by the village of Mount Prospect.

The two centers are the first regional shopping centers definitely proposed in the northwest area. Both would have at least a single major department store, possibly two, and be comparable in size to Old Orchard.

LOCAL BUSINESSMEN emphatically denied that the prospect of the centers clouds the commercial future of the central business district. But the businessmen also realistically declare that downtown backers will have to rub the crystal ball much harder than in the past if they want it to shine brightly.

A suggested plan to revitalize the downtown by using some of the tricks of the shopping center was presented to village officials last week. One plan would call for closing of portions of Dunton and Campbell sts. downtown and creation of a pedestrian mall; an alternate plan would allow the streets to remain as is but include other features such as provision for more stores and off-street parking lots and improved traffic circulation.

Both plans, developed by Evert Kincaid and Associates, village planning consultants, are being explained and discussed at meetings of downtown property owners this week.

OVERALL CHAIRMAN of the downtown development effort is Paul E. Collins, president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association. He was selected for the post at a recent meeting of downtown property owners sponsored by Paddock Publications.

Collins has appointed Marvin Rodewald, a realtor and owner of property in the vicinity of Evergreen and Miner, to head the north side owners' group and Walter Krause Jr., also a realtor and owner of Campbell and Dunton st. properties, to head the south side group.

Collins this week drew the relationship between the move to modernize downtown Arlington Heights and the shopping center proposals:

"It's not too late to get going on redevelopment here," he observed. "The investment in stores and real estate warrants it. Both the established business area and the shopping center can be prosperous while competing with each other.

"Arlington Heights most of all needs a major department store," he continued. "The way to get one is for the community to adopt an overall plan to making shopping here inviting and attractive . . . then try to interest department stores in locating here."

"There is still a great future for the downtown," agreed Rodewald. "There are plenty of sites for new stores and a number of older buildings could profitably be face-lifted."

Super Market Is Slated for Dunton

The confidence of businessmen in downtown Arlington Heights was backed up Tuesday by the National Tea co., which announced it will build a super market on south Dunton street.

The food chain has signed a long-term lease for property on the east side of Dunton, between Campbell and Sigwalt. The 34,000-square-foot lot was leased from the realty firm of Krause and Kehe of Arlington Heights.

Three buildings on the lot, two residences and a fix-it shop will be razed in mid-September so that construction of the new store can proceed immediately.

THE SUPERMARKET, to be of the same general appearance as the National store in Westgate shopping center, will adjoin Jewel food mart on the south, with parking for 60 autos to be provided on the south half of the lot and along an entranceway to extend eastward to Evergreen st.

The property has a frontage of 198 feet on Dunton st. and the store building will have a frontage of 100 feet on Dunton and a depth of 132 feet. It will be erected by the Arlington Heights Building corp., the same firm which built Dunton Court and will build apartments on Dryden.

A NATIONAL official indicated the new store will open in the early spring. Cost of construction was not disclosed.

The National announcement reverses a trend of nearly a decade. Four supermarkets have opened in shopping centers within village limits since the last large grocery store was built in the central business district.

Police Chief Tells Stores to Be Wary

Several experienced confidence men, suave and well-equipped with the mechanical gimmicks of their trade, are operating in the northwest suburban area, according to L. W. Calderwood, Arlington Heights police chief.

THE SLICK METHODS of the professionals have been recognized by local police in a number of cases, he said. One pro in recent weeks is believed to have cashed three rubber checks for a total of about $300 in Arlington Heights and two checks for $200 in Park Ridge.

The pros use check protector perforating machines to make their products appear to be authentic payroll checks and often trick unwary merchants, the chief added.

He described one method a bad check artist used recently to slip an $80 check past a supermarket cashier. The man obtained a letterhead or label used by a stable owner at Arlington Park racetrack, trimmed the identifying printed matter down to sticker size and pasted it on the check. When the forged check had been run through a check perforator, it had all the appearance of being genuine. Other bad checks passed in the village recently have had the name of either a legitimate or a phony business printed or written on the face of the check. Another had been stolen from an employer by an employee.

THE ONLY FOOLPROOF way to avoid being bilked is to refuse to cash a check unless the party is known to you personally, warns Calderwood.

For businessmen who insist on cashing checks of persons unknown to them, he advises that they require more than one means of identification.

"It's wise to take down the person's auto license number and the number of his driver's license," the chief said, adding that "if the person lives in the community, the merchant should ask him a few questions about his home town."

TO AID POLICE in apprehending con men, the theft or loss of checkbooks or wallets should be reported to police immediately.

Check losses reported to police during the past week included a bad check for $26.50, cashed at Freitag hardware August 9 on a $5 purchase of shears and insecticide, a check for $34.67 cashed at Garden Liquor mart August 2 on a liquor purchase and a check for $25 cashed at Heights cleaners in February.

Noontime Venture Proves a Failure

It gets busy around the Arlington Heights police station about noon Saturday, with shoppers dropping in to pay parking fines and people coming and going for lunch.

In fact, reviewing the incident from his bench in the station jail, it must have seemed to Arthur M. Veugeler that high noon on Saturday was a poor time and a used car lot across the street from the station a poor place from which to swipe a car.

But Veugeler was not in a particularly thoughtful mood at 12:05 p.m. Saturday, according to village police. Had he only considered things carefully beforehand, the Crystal Lake man could have saved himself much discomfort.

Veugeler, a 45-year-old unemployed laborer, got into a 1955 model car at the Cook Buick used car lot and, without bothering to tell a salesman, drove it out of the lot just as Police Chief L. W. Calderwood and officer Maurice English walked out of the station together. The pair watched as Veugeler rammed another car while emerging from the lot and continued westward without stopping.

THE IRATE MOTORIST, Ira C. Prouty, 42 S. Ridge, gave chase, and the two policemen followed both. Prouty tried to curb the lead car after it turned right from Wing onto Ridge, but the driver wouldn't stop.

Chief Calderwood and Officer English forced Veugeler to stop and took from the car a half consumed pint of whiskey. Veugeler was placed in the lockup when he couldn't put up $2500 bond on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and auto theft.

Cash Is Stolen

Theft of about $80 in cash from her apartment at 9 W. Campbell was reported to Arlington Heights police Tuesday by Mrs. Francis Everson.

She told officers the money was taken from a purse between 1 and 2 p.m. that day.

The Editor's Column

By STUART R. PADDOCK

Was it a kind angel watching out for our welfare about midnight Monday that caused a Wheeling township farmer to come to our relief, when a leak in the fuel line left us without gas?

A dozen cars sped past us, but Carl Franson of Hintz road saw to it that our car reached a service station. He topped it off with a ride to Palatine.

This causes us to do a bit of personal questioning. Would we have stopped to help out a stranded motorist at the midnight hour?

In a special editorial two weeks ago we said that the highway department will not force the rerouting of Route 53 down anybody's throat. We are still of that belief.

However, regardless of opposition, Palatine and Rolling Meadows cannot afford to shut their eyes to the need for the improvement. Federal money is available today as a recession move. It may not be there tomorrow.

This week's news columns announce a new major food store and large parking area within a few yards of Dunton and Campbell street. There is a larger area on the other side of the same block that is mostly used as a storage yard.

We do not know whether or not the present users of this property are violating business ordinance, but we do know that they will be rendering Arlington Heights great service by finding more suitable accommodations for themselves.

It would seem to us that it would be good public relations on part of the present users to give this matter prompt attention.

We all were sorry to see those magnificent trees go, but as cement curbs line those streets we can see that during the coming year Arlington's business district will be able to breathe.

Several new business blocks have made their appearance on Sigwalt street and there are others in the planning stage.

Business interests should cooperate in the expansion program as much as will the shoppers of the future recognize buying possibilities in Arlington Heights.

A special committee of Arlington Heights business men are studying the recommendation of the city planners. Their plan is startling and at first seems impossible, but we hope that the committee will find sections of those reports that have a possibility of materializing within the next few years.

We do not know the latest about those railroad parks, but residents of Arlington Heights are asking for action.

Until Tuesday morning we have been feeling a little sorry for teenagers who receive tickets because, by chance, the tail light of their car is not properly lighted.

It was a father of a teenager criticizing a police officer that caused us to make a little investigation on our part.

Did you know that it is a common practice on the part of some teenagers to cut the tail light wires in an effort to hide license numbers. No wonder the police are issuing those tickets. It may be that occasionally an innocent youth is picked up, but the number of guilty ones is good cause for the activity of the police.

A local judge told us this week that many offenders come from neighboring communities, some as far away as Woodstock.

SIDELIGHTS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Local sputnik-watchers report several clear views of the satellite and numerous stiff necks to remind them of their vigil. Between sputnik's visits over Arlington Heights, however, there was plenty of time here for the social life that's just as bright and lots more fun than Bleep-Bleep the Third.

Sunday a backyard cookout and evening of cards at the Myron Blum home, 615 S. Evergreen, did double duty, making a double birthday twice as lively. Mr. Blum shared the congratulations of 20 relatives with his son, Alan, on their mutual birthday. Alan was 16.

THE DAVID REIDS, former Arlington Heights residents, were guests of honor last Friday night at a dinner party for 12 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wist, 837 S. Vail. Mr. and Mrs. Reid and their daughter, Heather, whose present home is in Summit, N. J., visited here about a week, renewing old friendships, and returned to the east Tuesday. During their stay here they were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hansen, 15 W. Orchard.

Miss Valerie Lea Dean of Winslow, Wash. arrived by plane last Wednesday to spend a few days at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. McKown, 1137 N. Mitchell. Miss Dean is seven years old and made the flight from Washington alone. A seasoned traveler now, she continues her vacation this week with her cousin, Karyl Lynn McKown, at the Wisconsin home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fraley of Elm Grove. The girls motored there with Grandmother Fraley who came to get them and visit briefly at the McKown home.

WEEKEND GUESTS at the Melvin Coobs home, 1145 N. Mitchell, were several of Mrs. Coobs' relatives, including some who had not been together for 25 years. Although the get-together had all the pleasant earmarks of a family reunion, the clan actually gathered to attend the wedding Saturday in Aurora of Mrs. Coobs' cousin, Robert Williams of Stover, Mo.

Here for the occasion and celebrating it with the Coobs were the groom's parents, Mrs. Coobs' aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Williams of Stover; the groom's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hughes of Parsons, Kan. and Mrs. Coobs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wamsley of Freeport.

The Keith Posselt family, 302 W. Maple, came home Saturday from a 2-week vacation in Hartford, Mich., where they relaxed and enjoyed the water sports at a cottage on Van Auken lake.

One of the few reports of really good fishing this season was brought back by Robby and Scott, sons of the Robert Schnebergers, 610 N. Douglas, after a 10-day camping trip with their dad and Grandfather Schneberger. The fisherman went to Canada for the fish and because of the remoteness of the nearly inaccessible just-right spot, Rainy Lake, they had to be flown in. The Schneberger men, all four, agree that the fishing was worth the flying.

Executive, Aide Crash Helicopter

Herbert Bruning, president of Charles Bruning company, Mt. Prospect, was only slightly injured Tuesday when the helicopter in which he was a passenger crashed on take-off from a heliport at the north of the plant on W. Central rd.

Bruning and Don Heaton, acting public relations manager of the company, also a passenger, were taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, for X-rays and observation. Ed Lord, pilot for Helicopter Air Lift, was uninjured.

The men weer en route to a luncheon in Chicago.

AS THE HELICOPTER reached a height of 30 feet, it ran into a severe wind change, according to Hal Conners, manager for the helicopter service, which is employed by the Bruning company on a lease arrangement.

Lord attempted to turn around and land on the field. As the craft settled down, one skid was on the edge of a deep cut where the railroad spur runs into the factory, and the plane tumbled onto the tracks on its side.

Conners, who predicts the rapid increase of use of helicopters for commuting, commented his company holds the world's safety record. (AF

Oppose Plan For Parking On Parkway

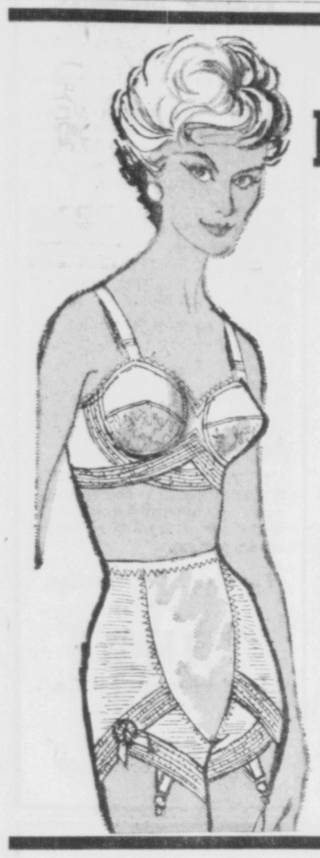

Plans of the Arlington Heights park district to park autos in the parkway of Fernandez ave., along the east edge of Pioneer park, drew the fire of village officials this week.

The park board is now preparing to pave Fernandez in cooperation with the owner of vacant lots on the other side of the street.

The village board issued what amounted to a stop-order on the project Tuesday and a trustee declared the park should have to provide off-street parking, as do businesses.

J. WARD WRIGHT, acting village manager, told the board L. W. Calderwood, chief of police, and Norman J. Toberman, village engineer, are strongly opposed to use of the parkway for parking, both citing safety hazards if it is allowed.

The board then voted to have Wright ban any construction on the project until the park and village boards can settle the parking question. (AF

Second Suburban Clinic To Discuss Area Problems

Suburbia will spotlight its own problems this fall in a conference sponsored by Paddock Publications.

County, township, and village officials as well as civic leaders and representatives of community groups will be invited to attend the second annual Suburban Problems Clinic October 11 in Arlington high school.

PANELS COMPRISED of experts in their respective fields will discuss school problems, zoning and planning of downtown business districts and shopping centers, and social problems in northwest suburbs.

A noon luncheon for guests at the all-day conference will feature an address by an outstanding authority on suburban planning.

Leading discussion during the day program will be Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools; Rev. J. G. Meiners, formerly an Arlington Heights minister and now executive director of the Milwaukee County Church Federation; and Paul Collins, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association and chairman of Arlington Heights' downtown redevelopment committee.

An added feature of this year's program will be presentation of the H. C. Paddock award for distinguished community service. The award, named in memory of the founder of Paddock Publications, will be presented to a deserving citizen of northwest suburbs.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the second clinic was made by Stuart R. Paddock, president of Paddock Publications. "Response to last year's program was so favorable that we have decided to make this program an annual community service project for our newspapers. The rapid growth of northwest towns has created many complex problems," he said. "Many of these are common to all towns and can be adequately handled only on an area-wide basis. We hope that this meeting will continue to help meet the need for cooperative planning and highlight some of the common problems facing northwest suburbs."

More than 300 persons attended the first conference in 1957. This year's panel sessions will be held in Arlington high school's Little Theatre with the noon luncheon scheduled for the school's cafeteria.

Co-chairmen of the clinic again this year will be Charles Hayes and Tom Brennan. They said invitations would be mailed next month. (B8

Aerial Survey Adds Area Property to the Tax Rolls

Nearly a million dollars worth of property in the northwest suburban area has been added to the tax rolls as the result of an aerial photographic survey to locate tax dodging real estate.

AND THERE may be more, according to county assessor P. J. Cullerton, who noted that only the survey of Worth township had been completed.

Comparison of aerial photographs with official tax records disclosed 193 "items" in the 5 northwest area townships of Barrington, Elk Grove, Hanover, Palatine and Wheeling. An item, the report noted, represents one year's unpaid tax on a building or property improvement.

Cullerton said the 193 items in this area represented $936,929 in assessed valuation and $56,663 in back taxes at the current rate.

The assessor's report noted that Schaumburg township has been mostly farmland until just recently and aerial photographs of the township have not as yet been compared with official tax records.

WHEELING township tops the list in this area with 98 items for an assessed valuation of $470,273 and back taxes of $28,442.

Elk Grove is next with 42 items on an assessed valuation of $200,533 with back taxes of $12,128.

The survey found 12 items in Palatine township with a value of $65,200 and back taxes of $3,943. There were 38 items in Hanover township, valued at $184,787 and back taxes of $11,175. In Barrington township there were 3 items, valued at $16,136 and back taxes of $975.

THE AERIAL tax spying system, started in 1956, has uncovered between 1,500 and 2,000 buildings, mostly residences and garages, that hadn't been reported by builders or owners for listing on the tax rolls.

The survey, according to Cullerton, has added nearly $17 million worth of real estate in Chicago and Cook county suburbs to the tax rolls. (B8

Nike-Hercules Missile Is Slated for Chicago Area

Brigadier General Peter Schmick, commanding general of the 45th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense), Arlington Heights, announced this week that the Chicago-Gary area will have a Nike-Hercules Guided Missile defending it.

Battery "A", 485th Missile Battalion located at Montrose avenue and Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, will be converted from Nike-Ajax to Nike-Hercules August 29.

General Schmick described the Hercules as a major step forward in air defense. The Hercules has a speed more than twice as great as the Ajax, its range is about three times as great and it has an altitude capability more than 50 per cent greater than the Ajax. In addition, the Hercules can carry either a conventional warhead or an atomic warhead. The atomic warhead is capable of knocking out a whole formation of planes. The Hercules missile is about 40 feet long, 32 inches in diameter and weighs 10,000 pounds. The Hercules system can also fire Ajax missiles and both types of missile will be stored at the site. The Hercules booster system, or first stage, consists of a cluster of four Ajax solid propellant boosters. The sustainer motor in the Hercules uses a solid fuel. (The Ajax has a liquid fuel sustainer motor.)

THE ATOMIC warhead emits no radiation when in storage. It is also considered to be incapable of exploding accidentally. If the Hercules is used in combat it will be so employed that there should be no danger from radio-active fallout.

Due to the great importance of the Hercules to the defense of the Chicago-Gary area, elaborate security measures will be employed in safe-guarding the site. These measures include extra man-proof fences, use of a dog platoon, flood lights, special guards, as well as other security measures.

Teen's Testimony Revokes License

Testimony of a 17-year-old Des Plaines youth has led to the revocation of a Wheeling township inn's liquor license.

Larry Ross Cordes, 1111 Morse ave., Des Plaines, told a liquor license inquest that he purchased beer at the White Stucco Inn, 706 River rd., Wheeling township, for a boy friend who was killed several hours later in an automobile drag race.

DANIEL J. RYAN, president of county board of commissioners, later revoked the license, owned by Michael Zeravich, 202 Graylenn dr., Mt. Prospect.

Support for the revocation came from the juvenile officer for the county sheriff's police, who testified that parents had been complaining that the tavern sold liquor to minors, but the police had been unable to secure evidence.

At the hearing the Des Plaines youth alleged that Mrs. Marjorie Welter, a barmaid at the inn, without asking his age sold him four quarts of beer several hours before the June 3 accident which killed John D. Lynn, 17, of 1432 Fourth st., Des Plaines, a Maine township high school student, and injured two others.

MRS. WELTER, 4800 River rd., Schiller Park, denied the charges. She testified Cordes wanted to buy vodka but left empty handed when told the tavern didn't have it.

On July 2 she had been fined a total of $150 by a police magistrate on charges of selling liquor to a minor and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, although she pleaded innocent.

Cordes testified that the other youths asked him to buy the beer and that they gave him one of the four quarts for doing it. He said he went home before the fatal drag race.

Inverness Motorist Chases Car Thief

An auto thief can't think of everything.

Twenty-six-year-old Eugene A. Karzes of Chicago spotted a 1958 Cadillac belonging to an Inverness executive in the O'Hare International airport parking lot which he liked very much.

KARZES THEN checked schedules and found no in-bound flights due at O'Hare inside a 40-minute period. Waiting for the mid-way point, he opened the door of the car which had been parked several days and jumped the ignition.

Karzes had made one mistake. He forgot to check the in-bound helicopter flights from Midway. Aboard was Henry D. Von Jenef, 42, of 1711 W. Atkinson rd., Inverness, who was returning from Washington, D. C.

Von Jenef, president of Televiso, Inc., of Des Plaines, was stunned to see a stranger sitting behind the wheel of his car.

Karzes rammed the car in reverse, almost running down Von Jenef who was yelling, "You're in the wrong car."

In his haste, Karzes hurdled three curbs to avoid going through the parking lot release gate.

Immediately Von Jenef hailed a Schiller Park taxi driver, Bill Harris, who was joined by two other cabbies in following the stolen car.

All sped south on Mannheim and east on Belmont where they lost the high powered Cadillac at River rd.

THAT WAS FRIDAY. Early Monday morning Chicago police picked up Karzes' trail when they received a call that the loudest sounds heard in years were coming from a garage in the 3600 block of Fremont st.

Upon arrival, police found Karzes, who lives in the next block at 3741 Fremont st., and 61-year-old Frank Goring attempting to hammer open a stolen safe. Goring had just completed 20 years in the Joliet penitentiary.

Police later learned the safe had been taken from the Reliance Drug store at 2 E. Chicago ave. in Von Jenef's car.

Von Jenef was called to identify the auto thief. Without trouble he picked out Karzes, who had just completed two years in Joliet for burglary.

Police turned over the 1958 Cadillac to Von Jenef. It was a 1958 model, but was no longer new. The upholstery was filthy. The fenders were damaged when Karzes hurled the curbs. And the trunk had been broken open in order to cart the 300 pound safe away.

"We're just sick about it," the scientific instrument company executive said.

"I TOLD CHICAGO police I often carry a revolver with me on these trips to Washington since I carry classified information," Von Jenef remarked.

"It's a good thing you didn't have one with you this time," police replied. "This character more than likely would have shot you and then you wouldn't have been able to identify him."

Teacher Workshop Scheduled Monday

At 9 a.m. Monday 147 teachers and staff members will report at Arlington Heights public elementary schools to spend a week tuning up their school bells and becoming familiar with the school system.

MOST OF THEIR time during the pre-opening week will be taken up with conferences with principals and other administrators, departmental meetings and talks with parents of younger children.

But there will also be several less formal programs on the agenda during which new teachers, 43 in all, will become acquainted and learn something about the community in which they will teach. At 10:30 a.m. Tuesday the school Parent-Teacher association will conduct teachers on a tour of the village, and the association will sponsor a breakfast for all teachers Wednesday.

District Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh will speak at a general meeting Tuesday morning on the philosophy and practices of district 25 and Dr. John I. Goodlad, director of teaching of the University of Chicago, will talk Wednesday morning on the subject, "Making Education a Profession."

Thursday morning teachers will gather for a report on three important projects now under way throughout the system. Richard L. Hetke, principal of Ridge school, will discuss the system's program for gifted children.

THE PROGRAM was on an experimental basis last year and was successful to the point that it is being extended to all schools as a regular program this year.

Robert P. Campbell, principal of Miner Junior high school and Windsor elementary school, will outline the continuing program for revising methods of teaching social studies and A. Todd Fouty, South Junior high principal, will report on the school improvement program. The latter program is an effort to devise better teaching and learning tools in cooperation with educational experts of the University of Chicago. The system was selected to participate in the program last spring by the sponsoring Fund for the Advancement of Education.

Gladys Stoughton, a reading consultant for Houghton Mifflin co., publishers of the system's textbooks, will confer with teachers in grades 1 through 6 Thursday afternoon. That afternoon parents of pupils in kindergarten, first and second grades will begin meeting with teachers. (AF

State Oks Downtown Light Plan

The Illinois division of highways has approved the general design of Arlington Heights new downtown street lighting system, village engineer Norman Tobermann said Tuesday.

Approval of the division is only one of several preliminaries to be cleared away before work can begin, he added. The announcement means that the village will be allowed to pay for its share of the improvement with motor fuel tax returns.

ACTUAL WORK on the lighting program cannot begin until early next year, the engineer explained, because several legal hurdles remain. The portion of the special assessment project to be paid by individual property owners affected has not been determined and the Cook county court must still review the project.

North and south side street widening is going "a little slower than I expected," Tobermann admitted. North side work cannot be started until utilities are relocated; the south side widening is about half completed after four weeks of work. (AF

45 Seek Manager Job Here

Forty-five applications for the post of Arlington Heights village manager were received before the deadline closed Saturday, reports John J. Solon, 614 S. Mitchell, chairman of a citizens' committee on manager selection.

Solon added that the applicants have now been narrowed down to 10 and that by August 30 the committee will have further trimmed the number. The village board will then interview applicants and select and appoint a manager. Solon's committee will not single out or otherwise recommend a choice. The chairman said applications had come from every geographical area in the nation.

The new manager, replacing resigned F. Robert Buechner, must be installed by the end of September. (AF

A. The front edge of the chair should be on a perpendicular line with the edge of the table.

Children's Carnival Nets $39 for Hospital Fund

The wave of public support for the new Northwest Community Hospital continues.

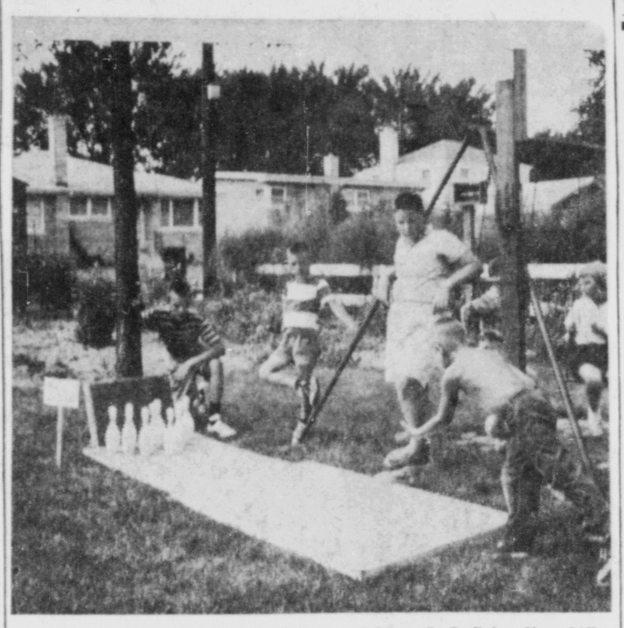

The most recent unexpected donation came from nine children who live in the Scarsdale section of Arlington Heights.

At a carnival, held on the Edward M. Ryan lawn at 713 S. Linden, the children sold drinks and eats and staged games.

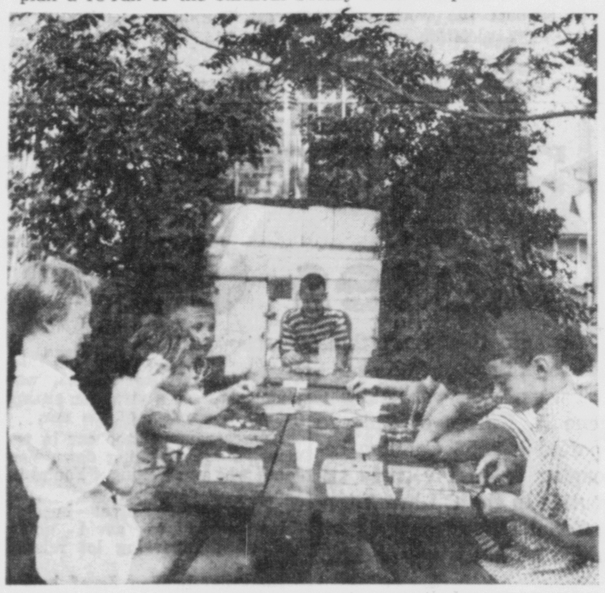

At the end of the day there was $39.09 and—there being no middleman profits or taxes—the entire amount was donated to the hospital fund.

CHILDREN participating were Mike, Kathy and Bobby Ryan, Patti and Marcey Cushing, Karen and Nancy Hajovsky, Jimmy Kimling and Janet Halttenhoff.

Merchandise was donated for the carnival by Bowen Hardware, The Cake Box, Lunning's, Hagenbring's, Walgreen's, Dan e gger's Bakery, Arlington Furniture Mart, Winkleman's bicycle shop, O'Bert jewelers, Flaherty jewelers, and the Toy & Hobby House. (A

GREG SCHAEFFER, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Schaeffer, 917 N. Harvard, tosses bowling ball after paying his penny. Neighborhood carnival also featured bingo, ring toss, fishing for prizes, and basketball throw. Jeff Corbin and John Schlomann plan a re-run of the carnival Friday from 1-4 p.m.

BINGO was a vital part of a neighborhood carnival operated by Jeff Corbin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Corbin, 930 N. Harvard, and John Schlomann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schlomann, 924 N. Harvard. Boys attracted neighboring children and had made about two dollars in their first couple hours of business.

Arlington Library Sets Record for Community Use

If you borrowed and read books from the Arlington Heights Memorial Library during the past year, you had a part in establishing a new all-time record for library use in this community.

The 1957-58 book circulation figure of 100,302 was up 12,748 over last year, according to Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian. These figures indicate how many Arlington Heights residents are reading books even though the village is so generously dotted with television antennas.

MOST OUTSTANDING, according to the librarian, was the sharp increase in the circulation on non-fiction books to adults. The largest gain was in this category. However, substantial gains were made in the circulation of fiction, young people's and children's books.

Librarians agree that reading tastes are gradually changing. Reading of mysteries, westerns and other light reading is down, and there has been a noticeable switch in recent years from fiction to fact.

Arlington Heights residents are using the library more and more to help solve their problems of everyday living. In addition to the upward trend in the number of books taken out for home use, the librarian pointed out, there has also been an increase in the use of other services of the library. More people come in to browse, to study, and to read either for pleasure or with a purpose. Many visit the library regularly without ever borrowing a book, so that the circulation figure is only a partial indication of total library use.

The number of borrowers was at an all-time high, with 9,503 registered. This was an increase of 1,827 over last year.

ASSEMBLING A GOOD collection of books for all ages and interests, and then getting these books to the people of the community is the main function of the library. During the year, a total of 1,737 new books were added to the library bringing the total book collection to 23,785.

The library also has 52 subscriptions to various magazines of interest to young and old. (A

When an invading germ or virus attacks your body a war begins. If your body senses that it is losing, it asks for help. You may become unusually tired, have persistent pains or other troublesome symptoms.

Any delay can make the battle hard to win. Home remedies, that only treat symptoms, may mask the real cause and permit the illness to gain a strong hold. The best way to win your war against sickness is to go to your physician at the first sign of trouble. Let him diagnose the cause and prescribe the proper treatment.

Helicopter Survey Clinches 80-Acre Carson Project

A helicopter flight participated in by John T. Pirie Jr., chairman of the board, resulted in acquisition of 80 acres of land by Carson Pirie Scott and co. at northeast corner of Rand rd. 83 adjacent to Mt. Prospect, it has been learned.

SEVERAL directors and officers joined Pirie in the flight over metropolitan Chicago extending north to Waukegan, west and southwest to O'Hare field and Joliet, and east over Hammond area.

Says Pirie: "We wanted to see firsthand what is happening and the significance of the toll roads and expressways now under construction in relation to Chicago's inevitable expansion.

"We viewed many interesting sites and were particularly impressed with the excellent road network provided by Rte. 83 and Rand, Foundry and Euclid rds., immediately northeast of Mt. Prospect. We believe this network offers the best available opportunity for an advantageous pattern of traffic to a regional shopping center of the size we contemplate."

THE MT. PROSPECT center will be the sixth of outlying stores established by Carson's since 1952 and surrounding greater Chicago. Officials point out that it will be convenient to the territory lying between the Edens Plaza location serving north shore suburbs and Hillside, directly west to the loop.

Branches at Woodmar in Hammond, Ind., and in Evergreen Plaza at 95th and Western ave. and the warehouse store at 7100 S. Cicero ave. serve communities southeast, south and southwest. The parent store on State st. and the specialty shops in the Prudential building are convenient for the shoppers patronizing the central area. (B8

Civil Liberties Union Is Studying Police Brutality

The American Civil Liberties Union is preparing a documented report on alleged police brutality in Chicago, according to the group's attorney.

Donald Page Moore, staff counsel, said a rough draft of the 60-page report is in the hands of the union's board of directors and will be distributed to newspapers "and any other interested parties."

Moore said "The report contains some highly critical comments and we say some bold things."

HE SAID that the report details ACLU's charges that every year thousands of persons are held more than 24 hours by Chicago police and that many of them are beaten by policemen.

The report is the result of a study by Moore in 1956 in which he disclosed that more than 16,000 prisoners were held secretly by police for 17 hours or more. The figure is a projection of a study of 2,200 case files in eight of the 20 branches of the Municipal Court. Moore said:

"I spent more than four months in file vaults of the court and I know what I am talking about. One file showed a prisoner was held in secret for nine days before being charged with disorderly conduct. And later he was found not guilty."

DOCUMENTING the report, Moore said, are case histories of persons who were beaten by police and forced to confess crimes they did not commit. He said most of the examples were in the Fillmore police district.

As a result of complaints by the ACLU, a federal grand jury last June 12 indicted two detectives from the Fillmore district for allegedly violating the constitutional rights of two teen-age prisoners who had been picked up as robbery suspects.

The policemen were accused of beating and illegally holding the youths for 48 hours in the station at 4001 W. Fillmore. One of the policemen died Thursday in Hines hospital following a serious illness.

Assistant U. S. Attorney James B. Parsons, prosecutor in the case, said the grand jury probe is continuing and has spread into several other police districts. He said the grand jury is investigating other complaints by the ACLU.

Moore said these complaints are detailed in the ACLU report.

Evanston High To Be 4 Schools

When Evanston high school students return to school Sept. 3, they will find "four schools within a school." After 34 years of an organization of homerooms and homeroom directors, ETHS will now have four "divisions" or small schools, each with a principal, three division assistants and a group of counselors responsible for the administrative and guidance program.

Each division will have an enrollment of 800 students, according to Dr. Lloyd S. Michael, superintendent-principal. A student will be in the same division for all four years of high school and will have the same counselor. Each unit will have 200 freshmen, 200 sophomores, 200 juniors and 200 seniors. (B12

Q. Is it necessary to send a wedding gift when one is invited only to the church, but not to the reception?

A. In this case, it is not necessary. Only an invitation to the reception requires a gift.

Q. What form should a newly wed couple use when extending invitations to a reception in their new home, after they have returned from their honeymoon?

A. They may either mail the engraved kind of invitation, or if the affair is to be an informal one, they may telephone their invitations.

Q. When a man is sitting at a cocktail bar, is he supposed to tip the bar man?

A. While not exactly necessary, it still seems to be expected in some places—and especially when one's change is returned in a small tray.

Wheeling Township Acquires Building

PURCHASE of this office building at 1818 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, was announced this week by the Wheeling township board. The building, now housing the offices of Marvin Rodewald real estate agency, is two years old.

For the first time since it was organized more than 100 years ago, Wheeling township will have a building of its own.

THE TOWNSHIP board, whose members are Supervisor Gilbert J. Klehm, Clerk Mrs. Dorothy Hauff and five justices of peace, recently approved purchase of an office building.

The building is the office of Rodewald Realty co., 1818 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Hts. The one-floor, brick and masonry building has a large outer office about 42 feet by 15 feet in size and three smaller offices at the rear. It is two years old.

Klehm said the sum of $50,000 was piad to owner Marvin Rodewald. The realty firm will remain in the building until about January 1, 1959.

The supervisor said the quarters will be used by all town officials, including collector, assessor, supervisor and justices of peace. The justices now hold court in several locations, with two sitting in the courtroom of the Arlington Heights village hall. The large front office of the new building will be made into a courtroom for their use, Klehm added.

FOR MORE than 20 years the township rented quarters upstairs in a building at Evergreen and Northwest hwy. in Arlington Heights. When the town's lease expired recently, offices were moved to the Behrens building at Northwest hwy. and Dunton.

Klehm explained that the funds for the purchase were acquired as fees earned by the township collector for collection of property taxes. Before the recent purchase, the township had a surplus of about $100,000. The sum of $75,000 was appropriated at the town meeting in April for a new building.

Rodewald said he will begin construction next month on a Lannon stone, brick and glass office building on a lot adjoining his present building on the west. The building, to be air-conditioned, will have parking space in the rear. (AF

The Mailman's Corner

Only God Can Will Conquest of Space

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

It has taken man thousands of years to evolve from the condition of a cave man to the day of the nuclear fission—at least 6,000 years. Out of the billions of persons who have been born and have died during that time, only a handful have contributed significantly to the knowledge and development of the world. Even today, large segments of the earth's people are still living in the bow and arrow age; still other segments are living as desert nomads. Only a relatively small percentage have reached a high technological development, where they have learned how to make machines and use them — machines that are both terrible, and wonderful.

Technologically, that small percentage has reached the point where they are ready to leave this planet and move out to conquer space. The day when we will be able to fly to the moon has been estimated to be within the lifetime of most of us. Reaching other planets from there will be simply a matter of further development and knowledge, we are told.

BUT EMOTIONALLY and spiritually, mankind is not ready for the conquest of space. When we do branch out, with our present emotional equipment the whole universe will be turned into a battle ground between the power and land hungry leaders who happen to control our destiny at that time. If, as is within the realms of possibility, there are other civilizations on planets that we shall explore, we may bring them only death, sorrow and disease. We earthlings, for all of our vaunted humanitarian principles, can be cruel, heartless, selfish and utterly destructive; and even with our great mental development and high sounding moral and philosophical concepts, our thoughts and our ideals are so warped by our emotions that what we do, directly contradicts what we say we believe, and almost cancels out those thoughts and ideals.

And so I wonder. Will God, who knows all and is all powerful, permit us while we are still spiritually and emotionally unstable, to gain the knowledge and means to conquer space now? Or will He postpone that day until we are better able to control our emotions and live at peace with Him and our fellowmen? (B8

Noted Bible Students Help Fill Pulpit of Area Church

Two noted students of the Bible will speak next week at Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church. Both are filling the pulpit need of the church until the arrival of its new pastor, Rev. Harry L. Evans, September 7.

Sunday, Aug. 24, Rev. H. B. Prince of Minneapolis, well known Bible teacher and evangelist, will speak at both the morning and evening services, while Wednesday evening, Aug. 27, Dr. G. Douglas Young, dean of the Trinity Seminary of the Evangelical Free church of America, will show the commercial film, "Buried 2,000 Years." The film tells of the discovery of the famous Dead Sea scrolls.

PASTOR PRINCE is minister of the Bethesda Evangelical Free church in Minneapolis, one of the largest congregations in that city. A thorough student of the Bible, he is in wide demand as a speaker at Bible conferences, prophetic gatherings and evangelistic crusades. Under his leadership the Bethesda church has grown in size and ministry until it is known throughout the upper midwest area.

"The church that missions built" is another description of the congregation, placed on it by a national religious magazine. The church has missionaries in all parts of the globe, but in recent years has concentrated in South America in opening up a completely new area for the gospel.

Since the current outbreak in the Near East, Pastor Prince's prophetic sermons have drawn large crowds to his church in Minneapolis.

Lamb Chops Sport Spicy Tart Topping

Here's a stylish meat serving priced just right for budget-wise homemakers. The meat cut in vogue in this recipe is lamb shoulder chops, a less-demanded cut. But in this case the chops are crowned by a colorful combination — an onion and lemon slice surrounded by a dainty green pepper ring.

For this recipe, braising is the method of meat cookery used even though all lamb chops are tender and can be prepared by broiling.

The braising method of meat cookery is used to add variety in the preparation of the chops. Tomato juice instead of water is used as the braising liquid.

Reba Staggs, home economist, emphasizes that when braising any type of meat cut, the liquid should never reach the boiling point, but cook slowly to be at its best.

Lamb Chops—Tart Topping

6 lamb shoulder shops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
¼ cup lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
6 onion slices
6 lemon slices
6 green pepper rings
½ cup tomato juice

Brown chops slowly in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Top each chop with an onion slice, a lemon slice and a green pepper ring. Pour tomato juice over shops. Cover tightly and cook in a slow oven (300 degrees F) or simmer on top of range for 45 minutes, or until done. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

DID YOU EVER SEE A LOST SOUL?

It is no cranky idea that people around about us may be as truly lost as was the Boy Scout in the Maine woods one summer. Some have habits which are breaking up homes and bringing jobs to an end. Some in the depths of despair tremble on the brink of suicide. Some are in such confusion about life that they have no sense of direction. How these lost people can be saved is our theme next Sunday.

Lions Governor Names Officers

District Governor Robert L. Graham of Skokie, recently elected to head district 1 F Lions International for northern Illinois, named this week his cabinet, secretary-treasurer and publicity director.

At a meeting held in Wheeling, Governor Graham pledged his full support to International Counselor Morris M. Benzuly of Fox Lake, chairman of the blind activities committee.

GOVERNOR GRAHAM stated that approximately $18,000 was collected in district 1 F with approximately $6,000 of that amount channeled to the Hadley School for the Blind in Winnetka. Nearly $80,000 was collected by Lions International in the state of Illinois, with $24,000 going to Hadley school and $22,000 to leader dog activities. The balance of the funds collected in the district and the state were retained by the individual clubs for their own blind activities work.

The week of October 17 was selected to give thanks for sight. At this time, Crackerjack and White Cane campaigns will be held.

During the 1957-58 campaigns, 400,000 boxes of Crackerjack were sold and Lion Governor Graham forecasts an even higher figure for the 1958-59 campaign.

DEPUTY DISTRICT Governors selected were Bert Green of Highland Park; Jack Miller of Northbrook, Milton Tuttle of Des Plaines; George Abernathy of Mundelein.

Appointed as zone chairmen were: John P. Walsh of Wilmette; Charles Nelson of Kenilworth; Earle Watson of Fox Lake; Justin B. Snyder of Lake Bluff; Raymond Bertram of Palatine; Walter Schroeder of Mt. Prospect; John Russo of Antioch and S. A. Harris of Winthrop Harbor.

Norman L. Leslie, trust officer of the State Bank and Trust Company in Evanston was selected as Secretary and Treasurer; Dawson J. Gillaspy of Wilmette, Public Relations Director and Raymond L. Willer of Glenview, former District Governor in 1956-57, was selected as Membership Retention Chairman.

LION GOVERNOR GRAHAM announced that the annual District Golf Party for District 1 F would be held at Diamond's Golf club in Antioch on Wednesday, Sept. 10.

He also stated that the next Lions International Convention for Illinois would be held at French Lick, Ind., June 5, 6, and 7, 1959.

Q. Is it necessary to acknowledge receipt of birthday or anniversary cards?

A. If by this you mean a note of acknowledgement, no. However, when you next meet the sender of such a card, it is always good manners to mention that the card was received and appreciated.

Modern Hospital Design Functional

by PAUL ZEHNER

Modern architects say, "That which is functional is beautiful." Another way to say it is, "That which serves its purpose best is beautiful."

Today's hospitals are designed to give the patient the best care at the least cost. It's important that a hospital be designed well, considering that the average patient needs more than 20 visits daily by nurses and other hospital employees.

Elevators move patients up and down rapidly. There are 12 elevator trips per patient between the hours of 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. and 20 in all during a 24 hour period according to recent studies. Paid hospital personnel must make most of these trips.

ELEVATORS ARE the fastest and cheapest means of transportation. We don't need to wait more than 30 seconds for either the service or public elevators which move 200 feet per minute.

Any nurse can tell how important it is to save steps by designing a hospital so she can be close to both patients and supplies. In modern hospitals, drugs are transported in pneumatic tubes. Dumbwaiters carry supplies. Food reaches patients sooner, and tastes better.

Nothing is as important to the patient as to have the nurse quickly available. In many modern hospitals, the nurse needs to walk no farther than 52 feet to the entrance of the farthest room in her section. This is true of Northwest Community and Lutheran General hospitals in northwest suburbs. Sometimes the nurse had to walk from 90 to 120 feet in hospitals built in past years.

THEY'RE BUILDING hospitals tall because we get better care in them. They also save money, which means care will cost less.

Until we discover something better, the tall hospital will be the thing because it serves best. If we agree with our architect friends, it is also the most beautiful.

Area Officials Help to Open New Tollway

More than 1,800 official personages traveling in 780 autos took part in dedication ceremonies for the Northwest Tollway at O'Hare Field entry Wednesday.

THE O'HARE ceremonies under the direction of Nicholas M. Lattof of Arlington Heights and Jack D. Hughes of Des Plaines opened a series of elaborate programs planned for the day.

The 76-mile Northwest Tollway connects northwest suburbs with Rockford and South Beloit on the Wisconsin border.

Opening ceremonies at the Higgins rd. entry got under way at noon with a Fifth Army band, an honor guard of Boy and Girl Scouts, and a speaker's platform replete with area celebrities including:

Donald B. Dickson, Park Ridge alderman; Floyd Fulle, editor of Des Plaines Suburban-Times; Jack D. Hughes, vice president of Littlefuse Inc.; Joseph Schneller, president of Prospect Heights Businessmen's association; Mrs. John Jones Sharon, chairman of tollway beautification committee; L. B. Paddock, publisher of Barrington Courier-Review; Stuart R. Paddock, president of Paddock Publications; and Richard Wessel, publisher of Des Plaines Journal.

OTHER PERSONS WHO took part in the ceremony are Austin L. Wyman, commission chairman; Charles M. Burgess and Orville Taylor, commission members; E. A. Rosenstone, director of the department of public works and buildings; Attorney General Latham Castle; and Charles L. Deering, executive director of the Toll Road commission. They will be introduced by William Harrison Fetridge, chairman of the Illinois tollway dedication committee.

Gov. William G. Stratton, main speaker for the ceremony was introduced by State Rep. John W. Carroll of Park Ridge, master of ceremonies for the O'Hare program.

Gov. and Mrs. Stratton were escorted to the platform by Lattof.

TURNSTILE entrances of the Higgins rd. entry was covered with red, white, and blue bunting and overhead flags. The center turnstile were covered with a colorful map of the tollway. The governors car drove through the map, followed by Mrs. Stratton's car.

The entire tollway was opened to traffic at 6 p.m. Wednesday. Toll rates on the turnpike will range from approximately 2 cents a mile for passenger vehicles to 6 cents a mile for multi-axled vehicles. (Bo

Perfect Gravy — Step by Step

Young brides confide that gravy can be the making or breaking of a new cook's reputation.

Here is a sure-fire way to make excellent gravy in a roasting pan; it practically guarantees success.

First, lift the roast to a heated platter and keep warm. Leaving crusty bits in the roasting pan, pour off the fat and meat juices into a cup. When the fat comes to the top skim it off. Then for each cup of gravy, measure 2 tablespoons of the fat back into the roasting pan.

To make 2 cups of gravy (enough for 6 to 8 servings), put one-quarter cup of fat (4 tablespoons) in the pan.

STIR IN AN equal measure of flour — one-quarter cup (that's 2 tablespoons for each cup of gravy). Blend the flour and fat. Keeping heat very low, cook and stir till frothy. For a richer color and flavor, brown the flour to a light tan.

For the liquid, use meat juices plus water or milk; or use broth from chicken or turkey giblets. After removing the pan from the heat, pour in the liquid all at once, one cup for each cup of gravy. Stir to blend and to loosen the crusty bits. Then return the pan to heat.

Season the gravy to taste with salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate, and perhaps a dash of favorite herb like rosemary. If you want a richer-brown gravy, add a bit of kitchen bouquet. Simmer the gravy about 5 minutes, till smooth. Then pour it into a hot gravy boat, and you'll have gravy any cook would be proud to claim. (SH

Thieves Strip Parked Autos

Auto parts thieves Thursday took two headlights from a car parked at Grigsby-Allison co., inc. and owned by Mrs. Marilyn Groat of Rolling Meadows.

Also taken were a pair of disk hub caps, reported missing by Mrs. Alice Thompson, 209 N. Vail, after her car was parked overnight Sunday in the Black funeral home lot. (AF

Q. Where should our dining room chairs be placed when not in use—at the table or elsewhere about the room?

A. This really depends upon space and convenience. One chair against each side of the table is the usual practice.

Two More Stores Open in Market

PREPARING for the grand opening of his new Regent Draperies shop in Arlington Market today is owner Harvey Fradin of Skokie.

Grand opening events are planned for two stores in Arlington Market this and next week. The openings will boost to 13 the number of retail and service establishments in the Foundry rd. shopping center.

Slated to formally open today is Regent Draperies—"The House of Ready-Mades"—operated by Harvey Fradin of Skokie. He was formerly general manager of United Draperies, with shops in Chicago and Old Orchard shopping center, and Holland Draperies in Lincoln Village shopping center.

Fradin, a veteran of 15 years in the draperies field, eliminated an inventory for custom drapes on two racks, thus doing away with the need for counter after counter loaded with bolts of fabric.

All materials are price-marked for the convenience of the casual browser. In addition to materials the store stocks complete lines of ready-made curtains to fit any size window, cafe and shower curtains, accessories and drapery hardware.

Fradin, known as "Mr. Harvey" in the trade, said this is his first venture of his own. His store will be open Thursday and Friday evenings until 9.

Ruth Miller teens and ladies apparel tentatively plans for a grand opening next Thursday. Opening of the store will put the operators, Vincent M. and Ruth Miller, back in business with two stores.

They have another store in Park Ridge and had a store in Portage Park in Chicago until earlier this year.

Mrs. Miller said the Arlington Market store will feature moderately-priced lines of dresses, sportswear, lingerie and intimate wear, jewelry, hosiery and accessories.

The interior decor of the shop will resemble an outdoor garden, with brick-patterned wallpapers lending a backyard effect, and trim will be in walnut. Showcases will be of wrought iron and there will be six fitting rooms with swinging "saloon" doors across the rear of the shop. Miller designed and is completing the interior finishing of the store himself.

The owners said 100 prizes will be given away at the opening. (A

There is a new baby girl at the home of the Robert Brogans, 1206 Watling. Patricia was born July 15 in Resurrection hospital and came home to a sister, Wendy, and a brother, Johnny.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. DeWilde, 1102 Burgoyne, joined friends in Appleton, Wis., for a weekend. They enjoyed fish caught on a fishing trip to Canada last June.

The T. C. Carlsons, 1314 N. Harvard, took the last week of their vacation to go around the east side of Lake Huron and back around the east side of Lake Michigan. Coming back they spent a day at the Greenfield and Ford museums near Detroit. They had beautiful weather the whole time and the boys managed to get in some fishing and swimming.

"THE BIRCHES" near Springstead, Wis., was the spot the Thomas Polacek family, 1220 N. Harvard, chose for a week of their vacation. Besides swimming and fishing, the got in some golf while they were there.

Thre was much excitement around the home of the G. A. Martins, 1409 N. Yale what with their daughter, Alicia, being in the eve of her trip to Campfire Girls Camp at Westfield, Wis. She left a day late, but will be back this week after two wonderful weeks there.

The Carl E. Schmitz, 1300 Clarendon, joined three other couples for a long weekend that took them to Big Sand Lake club near Phelps, Wis. This private club offered them, among other things, swimming, fishing and golf.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Ginny Reed had a farewell luncheon August 12 for Mrs. Enoch Jordan, who is moving to the San Francisco area with her family next week. Mrs. Robert Carney, Mrs. Oliver Davenport and Mrs. Edwin Tierney were among the guests who, along with Mrs. Read, presented Mrs. Jordan with a gift. The ladies, along with their husbands, comprise a Sunday evening bible discussion group that meets twice monthly.

Mrs. Herbert Kamin, 737 N. Kennicott, spent three weeks in Houston, Texas with her girls recently, visiting her husband's parents, the Edward Kamins. Mr. Kamin joined them for the last week there. Everything was a treat for Margie, Bonnie and Gale — the trip to Galveston, where they took a ferryboat ride and saw the Battleship Texas, the zoo in Houston and kiddyland, where they talked to humpty-dumpty (a man does the talking for this storybook character), swimming and nightly trips to the drive-in for ice cream. After they had rested up from the trip to Texas, they all drove to Stearns, Ky., to visit Mrs. Kamin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Manning for a week.

NEWCOMERS TO Arlington Heights are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kay, who have moved to 1008 N. Kaspar from Elmwood Park. The Kays have two sons: Stephen, who will be three in November and Larry, 10 months.

The Richard Platt house was unusually quiet last week. The two grandmothers took Jeff, Karen and Terrence to the one grandmother's cottage at Bluff lake, near Antioch. The children enjoyed swimming and playing with their friends there. Saturday night the Platts entertained the Couples club with a party at their house. This group is comprised of the girls (and their husbands) who Ruth graduated with from high school.

The Bruno Waaras, 804 N. Ridge, are back home from a month's vacation in Manistique, Mich., where they visited her mother, Mrs. Muriel Cookson. Mr. Waara took his vacation at that time and spent two weeks with them. The weather was perfect and Kathy and Scotty had a good time being right on Lake Michigan.

PEGGY EELES, daughter of the Kenneth Eeles, 918 N. Yale, celebrated her sixth birthday August 13 with a party to which she invited Linda Boyd, Susan Le Beau, Chris Maun, Robin and Jeff Sieler, Cindy Rothenberg and Peggy's sister, Bobbie and Laurie. The girls had lunch and then enjoyed party games. That evening Peggy's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Sampson, took the three girls to a kiddy park, where they rode on the rides to their hearts' content.

Arlington Heights welcomes the family of Clement O'Neil, who has moved to 922 N. Yale from Lindbrook, L.I. N.Y. The O'Neils have two sons, Larry and Peter.

Last weekend the Vernon Jensens, 935 N. Kaspar, went up to Neenah, Wis., to Mr. Jensen's high school class reunion.

THERE IS A new baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bahe, 930 N. Princeton. Linda Sue was born August 4 in Resurrection hospital and weighed eight pounds 2½ ounces. She came home to a sister, Barbara, 20 months.

Everyone reported a good time at the barbecue and corn fest last week at the home of the Jerome Veseckys, 1002 N. Fernandez. The Robert Davidsons, C. A. Klipperts, Robert Bensons and the George Sielenbinders were there to share in the fun. After eating, the children and fathers entertained themselves with a baseball game.

The George Beresheims, 926 N. Princeton, went with the Couples club last Saturday night to the Highland Park Tent House to see "No Time for Sergeants."

A NOTE OF sympathy is extended to the family of Flo Braunsreuter, 731 N. Kennicott, whose father died last week in New Jersey. They returned from the funeral this week.

The John Farrs have been kept busy since they moved into their new home on Drury lane from 826 N. Kennicott.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Koriath, 823 N. Kennicott, took his parents, the Emil Koriaths, of Chicago to Milwaukee last Saturday to the Wisconsin State Fair. They enjoyed the exhibits and doing a bit of sightseeing while there. Young Johnny had the thrill of talking to Alice in Dairyland, even though someone else talked for the statue.

THE GLENN Buckleys, 1404 W. Elm, and her mother, Mrs. Ellen Marquiss, took separate vacations to California recently but managed to meet in Los Angeles for a day of visiting and sightseeing. Because they wanted to take sidetrips along the way, the Buckleys drove out, stopping at the Grand Canyon, Petrified forest and painted dessert first. From there they went to Los Angeles, where they toured the city, including the homes of the movie stars and Disneyland. Sequoia National park was next on the list, followed by Yosemite and Lake Tahoe.

They came home by way of Las Vegas, Reno the Great Salt lake and Salt Lake City. A perfect finale to their trip was a stop in Des Moines, where they were the guests of the Pepsi-Cola people at the country club. Golfing, swimming and dinner there helped to wind up a trip that had taken them 5,800 miles in 16 days.

They returned just in time for Richard to board one of the two buses of children from school who were going to music camp at Interlocken for a week. This is the first time for Richard go to this international camp, where everyone studies music and gets good practice in music theory.

A WEEK IN Bayfield, Wis., proved to be a pick-me-up tonic for the C. W. Burens, 821 N. Harvard. The boys enjoyed swimming and hiking, thanks to the wonderful weather.

Mrs. H. S. Baumgardner, whose sister is Mrs. John J. Clarks recently, visiting friends and enjoying a family picnic. The time passed all too quickly, and she had to return home to Port Washington, N.Y.

The John A. Millers, 915 N. Fernandez, had his mother, Mrs. Mae Miller, with them for a week before she returned home to Alhambra, Cal.

Mrs. Roy Holmquist, 918 N. Harvard, is planning a shower for a club member who recently had a baby girl. Linda was born August 12 to Mr. and Mrs. William Rakoski of Mt. Prospect.

The Robert Clores, 1315 W. Elm, took a weekend trip to Cedarburg, Wis., to visit friends.

ORR, MINN., is just the place for a summer vacation, according to Marie and Al Kluesing, 905 N. Salem, who just returned from a week's stay there with their boys. They had a cabin at this summer resort near the Canadian border, which is a fisherman's paradise. Each day, after fishing, their guide prepared and cooked the fish right on one of the islands in the lake. What's more, they didn't even have to wash dishes, which appealed to Marie. There were no complaints from the boys either, especially when it came to the Swedish cooking there described by Marie as "out of this world." They brought back their limit of fish for a fish fry in their back yard.

The Don Wheelers, Clyde Hardens, James Turners, Harry Schuldts, Herman Koenemans and the Alfred Hansens enjoyed a potluck picnic at the Kluesings, with Al serving the fish from the charcoil broiler.

THE ADOLPH DANES, 725 N. Harvard, are singing praises of "The Birches" in Springstead, Wis., where they just spent a week of their vacation. Probably the highlight of the stay was the Indian ceremony at Lac du Flambeau. The Danes children went through the teepees and also shook hands with the Indian braves. There was never a lack of something to do, with berry picking, swimming, fishing and pitching horseshoes available at all times.

Mrs. William Frost and Bill Jr. spent a week at Twin Lakes, near Des Moines, recently. Mrs. Frost staying with her aunt and uncle in the city and her son staying at the cottage on the lake. VOICE OF THE SUBURBS

Since 1872 Paddock Publications has striven to be a good neighbor to the people of the northwest suburbs.

Over the decades, its newspapers have evolved a personality, a quality of character which transcends the stone and mortar of its residences, the roaring machinery of its pressroom, the patter of typewriters in its editorial and business spaces. It has achieved citizenship, in the highest sense of the word.

Here in northwest suburbs, Paddock Publications earns its living, pays its bills and its taxes, visits weekly with more than 100,000 readers.

Its interest in government remains detailed and intense. To projects for civic betterment it has tried to give intelligent advocacy and where needed, financial support. The most important news to most people is local news, and all Paddock Publications stress local news . . . telling their readers what's happening to the people in the places that mean most to them.

It has worked steadfastly to help the merchant sell his wares and tell the buyer where to find the things he needs. It has tried, too, to preserve the integrity of its advertising space as it does the integrity of its news.

Through its years, Paddock Publications has tried consistently, and will continue to try, to be a good citizen and a good neighbor. It will use its strength to root out information for the people of northwest suburbs, its broad acquaintance to spread the information and its best, though human, judgment to defend what is right and fight what is wrong.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

LAST WEEK we mentioned that tests given by leading physical educators indicated that children in the United States were from 25% to 50% in numbers less physically fit than children of comparable age in European countries. All tests were given on the elementary school level, but there is no reason to believe that high school age children in U. S. would reverse the results. However, we are certain that high school results would be better than elementary because we do have, pretty generally, a required P. E. program in high schools. This program in many high schools includes body building exercises as well as sports and in some schools just sports.

The good program includes both fitness activities and sports at both elementary and high school levels. Bonnie Prudden, an authority on physical education, who is extremely critical of the program in this country is a leading member of the president's commission on physical fitness. Her criticism of sports in a required P. E. course is that only a few students really put out to the extent of getting any real body building exercise. The weakling and the person who does not like exercise, and the person whose parents are afraid he or she will get hurt, just carry on in a passive way and get no good out of a group activity. According to Mrs. Prudden exercise must be individual and be long enough and hard enough so the participant is "good and tired."

Who is to blame for the poor programs and poor results? Bonnie Prudden lays it mainly on parents who try to keep their children out of P. E. for fear they will get hurt or have to work too hard. She also blames schools for failure to use equipment and put in certain types of programs because of accidents which have occurred or because of cost. Teachers are trained mainly in sports and not in gymnastics, dancing, and calisthenics. So, physical education is mainly games. Administrators at the high school level know how rare are teachers trained in dancing and gymnastics. Let's face it. Physical education has gone progressive education to a much greater extent than the academic program. Which would you choose if students had the choice, calisthenics or volley ball or running a mile or shooting backets?

Bonnie Prudden sums up the soft and inactive life which faces most children through the school years in the following statement: "Elementary school children today get between 13 and 20 minutes of a sort of half baked physical activity per week. Now, put that up against approximately five hours in a school bus; 25 hours at a desk; about two and one-half hours in a cafeteria; at least 25 to 30 hours a week in front of television. Add three hours on Saturday afternoon at a movie theater, and one and one-half hours a day on the phone, and eight hours in bed. Now just put that 13 minutes of motion against that many hours of sitting and lying and it doesn't look like a very good ledger. I wouldn't want it for my bank balance."

Some more of Bonnie Prudden's ideas on P. E. are as follows: (1) Keep records in everything from number of chin ups and pushups for boys to weights and measurements of girls for figure improvement. Students need to know about their improvement. This makes exercise competitive. (2) Teachers should set the example and be able to do anything they ask the student to do. Too few are really trained beyond the theory part of real P. E. (3) Build up physical fitness to

Our conclusion to all this is that there must be a sensible balance between sports and other types of exercise in a school program. Only a few become proficient in sports and only about one-half the students are interested in them. A good P. E. program should emphasize body building activities, first; sports which have carry over value, second; and group competitive sports, last. We think that if coaches teach P. E. at all it had better be the track, wrestling, gymnastic, and swimming coaches who do because they do most in their preliminary training in individual body buildng. By the same token their sports do most for boys from the fitness standpoint. There are other benefits to be gained from sports and physical activities which are very important but at the moment we are discussing physical fitness. As the purse strings get tighter and tighter in the suburbs with a growth so rapid that not enough classrooms can be constructed with the funds available, one of the areas which comes immediately under fire is physical education. We feel that all schools should make a pretty careful evaluation of their P. E. program, cut out the dead timber and non-essentials and come forward with a minimum program which can be defended on the many counts mentioned in this article.

the age 13-14 before the athletic coaches get the boys and girls. Schools with the best fitness program also have the strongest athletic teams. (4) A good program can be given with limited space and no equipment. Fifteen minutes of running around a gym will do if students are tired and perspiring. (5) The Kraus-Weber tests don't measure how many times a person can do an exercise but just if he can do it once. The question was asked as to how many times a child could chin himself. Mrs. Prudden commented that not one boy in 50 can chin himself once so why test how many he can do.

Here are the 6 tests in the Kraus-Weber series which show our children are weak. Try them and see how many you can do. (1) Lie on the back with hands clasped behind the head and with someone holding your feet—lift yourself to a sitting position. (2) Lie on back in same position as test one but with legs bent at the knee and feet held down. Again lift to sitting position. (3) Lie on back with hands clasped behind head. With legs held straight lift legs 10 inches and hold in position for 10 seconds. (4) Lie on stomach with hands behind head and feet held in place and lift head, chest, and shoulders from floor and hold in place 10 seconds. (5) Subject again lies on stomach with pillow under hips and instructor holds subject's chest down while he raises legs without bending knees and holds in place 10 seconds. (6) The subject stands at attention, then bends from the waist, knees straight, to touch the floor. He must hold the position without bouncing for 3 seconds.

Q. When making a call of condolence at someone's home, how long should one stay?

A. This type of call should be especially brief — usually not longer than about ten or fifteen minutes—unless, of course, the bereaved friend asks you to stay longer.

Q. I use the single-sheet type of personal stationery with my initials engraved on it. Should the second sheet of one of my letters also be marked with my initials, or should it be plain?

A. Stamped first sheets and plain sheets following are the usual procedure.

Q. When hard rolls are served, is it proper to cut them with a knife, or must they always be broken with the hands?

A. They must always be broken by hand.

O'Hare Season Nearing Climax

The 1958 auto racing season is now rolling toward a climax at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds., with a whole flock of thrilling events lined up commencing Saturday night when the new late model stock cars will roar through two 25-lap main events instead of the customary one. These latest Detroit products and their top pilots will also be in action Sunday evening with the now famous O'Hare Cadets furnishing added excitement both evenings. The Cadets will also be featured with special events Wednesday night. The first race nightly is always at 8:30 p.m.

THE LABOR DAY weekend will offer three complete and different racing programs starting off with the 100-lap season championship for the new late models Friday night, August 29. The new late models will be in action Saturday too along with the Cadets once again.

Then on Sunday night, Aug. 31, the Cadets are scheduled to star in their biggest show of the year that will most certainly also be the most thrilling for their 50-lap season championship will start no less than 40 cars. Gates open nightly at 6 p.m. There is ample police parking. (Sp

Veteran Linemen Hold Key Spots In Bears' Outlook

Four "new" veteran linemen loom big in the Chicago Bears' offensive forward wall, as the Club continues preparations for next Sunday's pre-season engagement with the Philadelphia Eagles at Columbus, Ohio.

Abe Gibron, former Cleveland Browns' all-league guard, gave an excellent account of himself at left guard against the Chicago Cardinals at Buffalo. Abe is in top physical condition and has the spirit and desire of a sophomore. Willie Lee, who played first string at Pittsburgh last year, is holding down the left tackle post in stellar style. He is a vastly improved lineman, and playing along side the experienced Gibron isn't hurting him.

BOB KILCULLEN, a defensive tackle last season as a Bear rookie, is filling the offensive right guard spot, vacated by the shifting of Stan Jones from there to tackle. Kilcullen has some distance to go yet, but gives promise of developing into a standout offensive guard.

As for Jones, who twice made all-league at guard, he looks considerably better at tackle, and operating from that spot, should bolster the Bear offensive line.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

TWO GRADS of the West Suburban conference, both guards in their respective prep sports, were in the news recently.

Norm Chimenti, an All-State guard on Hinsdale's eleven last fall, played in the East-West High School All-Star game at Memphis, Tenn. and also with a hand-picked unit in a contest against a Pennsylvania honor squad, and Chuck Sedgwick, guard on LaGrange's state basketball champs in 1953, joined the Rich high school faculty.

NORM CHIMENTI

Chimenti, reputed to be one of the finest guards ever produced in the WSC, and Mike Lind, a product of Calumet high in Chicago, were the only boys from Illinois to play in the grid affairs which matched outstanding personnel from both sides of the Mississippi. And both boys turned in creditable performances.

Among the observations made by the two former prep gridders were that the finest players in the game were a center from Davenport, Ia. named Jerry Hillebrand and a 6-1, 200 pound end from East Lansing, Michigan, Art Brandstatter, Hillebrand is headed for Colorado and Brandstatter for Michigan State.

Two of the players who have received the Most Valuable Player awards in the East-West game were Ronnie Knox, the controversial actor-quarterback, in 1952, and Jimmy Taylor, who went on to fame at Louisiana State, in 1954.

Sedgwick, one of the coolest performers to ever play basketball in the WSC, will work in driver education at Rich and has been named frosh-soph cross country coach and assistant sophomore basketball coach. Chuck graduated last spring from Bradley where he was co-captain his senior year. As a prep, Chuck was named to the All-Suburban area and All-West Suburban conference teams. Sedgwick will be on the same faculty with Greg Sloan, the man who coached LaGrange's unbeaten powerhouse to the Illinois crown in '53.

IN THE DYNAMIC, progressive sport of thoroughbred racing, no stakes event has quite kept pace with the times as the coveted Arlington Handicap—truly an annual convention of America's greatest grass horses.

The Arlington Handicap, slated for Saturday at Arlington Park, was inaugurated in 1929 as a mile and a quarter test on the main course for three-year-olds and up. Today it's one of America's most prominent stakes races for grass horses. The best of America's handicap performers as well as the cream of foreign-bred imports have met in this increasingly popular event.

Success of the Arlington Handicap on grass after its 1954 running, prompted many horsemen and many other tracks to look to this phase of thoroughbred racing as a permanent asset to the sport.

Largely because of Ben Lindheimer's faith in the turf-course competition and his persistence in scheduling major and lucrative events on the grass, many new owners entered the game; imports of foreign-bred grass stars gained impetus; and other tracks started to build their own turf courses—notably Santa Anita and Belmont.

Lindheimer's answer to those who wondered why he insisted on developing grass-racing was logical and effective:

"Grace," he said, "is the natural running course for horses. After all, they're raised on grass and spend most of their lives on it. Why shouldn't they be as happy racing on it?"

He added, "Many horses are found wanting on the dirt course, are converted to grass-runners and become great performers in that field. One of the first was Royal Governor, who actually had been retired, but his owners thought he might do well on the grass. He certainly did, winning the 1951 Stars and Stripes, plus $41,000, and starting a whole new career for him."

THE 1958 ALL-STAR game is history, and we can't think of enough favorable adjectives for describing the spectacle. For spectator appeal and excitement the '58 event is in a class by itself.

Although we missed on the actual score or even the winner, we do like to boast about our prediction that Illinois' Bobby Mitchell would be the star of the game. After watching Mitchell for three years at Illinois (without any consistent blocking up front), we knew he would standout if just given the chance. He got that chance.

Mitchell ran his own individual pass patterns. That is, he was on his own as Jim Ninowski, the brilliant quarterback from Michigan State, knew the general direction he was going but not the certain spot. Mitch made an interesting comment after the game when he said, "I never had so much fun and got hit so hard at the same time!"

Only item marring the entire contest, as we can attest as an arm-chair quarterback that night, was the poor camera work on television. And this is surprising considering the event.

P. S.

Northwestern coach Dale Samuels reports John Walbaum, outstanding All-State quarterback and all-around athlete at Barrington two years ago, has quit sports altogether at NU though he's still in school . . . Gary Elliott, who batted .493 for Park Forest this summer and who stood out in the county legion finals, and Curt Wehling, also from Park Forest, are heading for Arizona this fall . . . Elliott is going on a football scholarship . . . Word has it that Leroy Jackson, former Bloom sprint star who dominated the dashes in Illinois circles, failed to attend summer school and therefore failed to meet entrance requirements at Michigan State . . . The All-State halfback and track star tried Illinois before MSU but was turned down because of his high school credits.

We heard the Chicago Bears were going to do a housecleaning before the season opened, but we didn't expect such a thorough job. Some of the familiar names no longer on the roster include Perry Jeter, Ron Drzewiecke, Wayne Hansen, Ray Gene Smith, Herm Clark, Gene Schroeder, and Kline Gilbert.

Prep football coaches all over the state are anxiously awaiting the "official" start of football practice, Aug. 25, especially Walt Ashenbach at New Trier . . . He has another powerhouse . . . Everybody predicts that one of the best backs in the state this year will be Waukegan's Covance Cabel, a fleet 190-pounder . . . Jack Weber, Arlington's All-State end last fall, is apparently definite on Northwestern . . . Don Gerken, ace of Dave Lynk's Arlington legion staff this summer, recently worked out with the Chicago Cubs . . . You can be sure WSC grid coaches will have their best scouts ready to witness Maine's 1958 opener Sept. 13 with Evanston . . . That promises to be a good battle . . . Notre Dame lists three brothers, the Nebels from Mt. Clemens, Mich., on its fall grid roster.

Red Sox Drop Two Games In Palatine Little League

The Red Sox went through a lean week in the Palatine Little League.

After rolling through their first six games the Sox ran into some trouble last week, dropping a 9-4 decision to the White Sox and 4-3 tilt to the Yankees.

But the league leaders, who are now being hard-pressed by the Indians and Yanks, came back with a 21-0 victory over the Tigers with Wisniewski hurling a no-hitter.

IN OTHER games the Yankees and Athletics wound up with a 4-4 tie and the Indians won two, one from the Tigers, 23-0, and the other 10-9 over the White Sox. Athletics took the Tigers 6-3, and playing off a rain-out, it was the White Sox 12, Indians 4.

Two thrilling All-Star games were played on Sunday afternoon between the National and American Leagues. The four teams were made up of eleven and twelve year olds, representing all Major teams in Palatine's Little League. The two teams split the series.

Plans Women's Classic League

The organization of a high level classic league for women bowlers of the northwestern suburban area is now a reality. Beverly Lanes of Arlington Heights has announced the formation of such a league to be called the Beverly Women's Classic; and which, shall meet on Wednesday nights at 9 o'clock at Beverly lanes. The league will open with 8 teams.

Toni LaBant, whose idea and work have been very instrumental in the formation of the league, is in charge of the organization and all matters pertinent to the league.

Openings for eight bowlers are still available in the league. Anyone averaging 150 or better and who is interested in joining this league can do so by calling Beverly Lanes after 5 p.m. (Sp

Arlington Hosts Archery Meet This Weekend

The finest archers in the state will gather at Pioneer Park in Arlington Heights next Saturday and Sunday.

This is the 29th annual championship tournament and the first time it has been held in Arlington Heights. The Arlington Archery association and the Arlington Park district are instrumental in sponsoring this tournament and at least 125 to 150 archers are expected to participate. Spectators are welcome to witness the events and on Sunday a running total of the four top men and women will be announced on the field.

The events each day will begin at 10 a.m.

Busse Texaco Cops Paddock Golf Tourney by 3 Strokes

Sunday's tour around the spacious 6101 yard Nordic Hills golf course, "sponsored" by Paddock Publications, was a successful one for two entries from the St. Raymond's Holy Name league.

Busse Texaco and Kirchhoff Insurance, representing the two divisions in the St. Raymond's loop, finished 1-2 in the ninth annual Paddock Inter-League Handicap golf tourney with impressive net totals of 296 and 299 respectively.

Roll King, competing from the Our Lady of the Wayside league, placed a strong third at 304, six strokes on top of the two outfits which tied for fourth.

BERT HERRMANN of Moler's Barber Shop gained the dozen golf balls for his low individual net of 98-28-70 in Sunday's Paddock tourney.

DICK KRUEGER, Ed Nawoj, Bob Moore, and George Grego made up the winning Busse Texaco squad while Vern Dempsey, George Votava, Tom Elia, and Paul Dempsey competed for runner-up Kirchhoff.

Moore's 71 net was low for Busse and he was closely followed by Grego's 72. The lowest handicap player among the champs was Krueger, and he fired rounds of 43-41: 84-10-74.

Winner of the dozen golf balls for low individual net was Bert Herrmann of Moler's Barber Shop. Herrmann, who played in the tourney with a 28 handicap, fired a 98, net 70 to cop the honors.

ALTHOUGH the champion's 296 total was not the lowest in the nine years of the tourney, it was only 12 strokes off the mark set in 1955 by the Mt. Prospect Lions. Last year, playing on the same Nordic Hills course, Wheeling Lumber's foursome stroked its way around in 286.

The two zero handicap players in this year's meet, Len Arnold and Wally Schloman, both finished over par though recording impressive scores. Arnold, competing for the Elston Driving Range team of the Rob Roy Tuesday loop, shot 38s on both nines for a 76, and Schloman turned in a 38-37-75 for low gross honors. (Sp

Classic Bowling League Slated To Open Aug. 30

Paddock Classic Traveling League keglers are sharpening their eyes and arms for the Aug. 30 opening at Des Plaines Bowling Lanes with all of the teams averaging from 930 to 939.

The six teams were geared for 910 last season, the first year of operation for the Paddock Classic, but have moved the goal up to 940 for this year. Team captains have selected bowlers carefully to give the squads the necessary high average.

THE 190 BRACKET will have keglers galore this time. Included are three at 190, four at 191, one at 192, two at 194 and two at 196. Top average men as of this moment are Casper DeWitz, captaining the Barrington Ten Pin aggregation and a parts man at George C. Poole garage in Arlington Heights; and Tom Kouros, well-known counter man at Beverly Lanes in Heights. Both carry 196 marks.

Both Beverly Lanes and N. R. G. Construction, the latter representing Hi-Way Recreation of Palatine, will carry 939 team averages into the first night's action. Opening of the new season is scheduled for Saturday night, Aug. 30, at Des Plaines Bowling Lanes, starting at 6:30 p.m. League bowlers are asked to be there by 6 p.m. for the benefit of Paddock Publications photographers.

Two Drills Daily Scheduled For AHS, Prospect Candidates

Football is in the air.

On Monday high schools all over the state will officially take the wraps off another grid campaign in preparation for the season openers the second week in September.

Practice at both Arlington high school and Prospect school will open Monday at 8:30 a.m. with two practices daily through Tuesday, Sept. 2, excluding Sunday. Each boy is required to have 14 days of practice to be eligible for the first game.

All Arlington and Prospect grid candidates are requested to have shorts available in case the weather should necessitate light-uniform sessions.

THE CANDIDATES at both schools should report for uniforms on Saturday with the exception of freshmen who are siated to report to the Prospect high field house on Monday, Aug. 25, for their uniforms and listen to talks by the frosh coaches.

Varsity and JV boys should report to the west locker room, entering by way of doors off the game field to the north, at 8:30 on Saturday morning, Aug. 23. They should have paid or be prepared to pay their $9.50 fee to the athletic director and have with them a lock for their athletic locker. They must have taken their physical exam and turned in a signed parents' permit card. These are musts before uniforms will be issued.

The sophomores should report at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 23, to the Prospect field house and they too must have paid their fee which is $8.50 and have taken their physicals and have a parent's permit card signed. At Prospect it will not be necessary to have an athletic lock for their locker as these are already on the lockers and rental is included in the $8.50.

FRESHMEN ARE requested to report at the Prospect field house for uniforms at 8:30 a.m. on Monday. A large turnout of over 100 boys is expected for the frosh squad so all boys are urged to report on time to hear information by the freshman grid staff, Chuck Aldrich, head coach and Harold Hanson and Rusty Dowell, assistants.

There will be a sporting goods representative on hand to sell football shoes to interested candidates on a cash basis only.

"Bus" Ormsbee is again in charge of the varsity eleven with Bob Scott as line coach, Maurice Ross end coach, and Ted Wisner JV mentor. Bill Beckman and Bo Hoese are the soph coaches.

Three More Days For Registration Of Fall Athletes

Only three more days are left for registration of fall athletes at Arlington high school and Prospect school.

Juniors and seniors can register through Saturday at AHS from 8 to 10 each morning and freshmen and sophomores register through Saturday at Prospect from 10 to 12.

In addition to their physical cards, athletes must also be prepared to pay their fees and also present their signed parents permit card. (Sp

Attis Issues First Call

All cross country candidates at both schools should report to the Arlington high track at 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 25, varsity coach Russ Attis announced this week. This includes freshmen.

Each boy should have his registration card cleared through the athletic director's office before he reports for practice.

At the first meeting the boys will be issued equipment. Practice sessions will run daily at 10 a.m.

Kentzel's Homer Tops Cole-Lenzi

Tom Rowlee, ex-Maine pitcher with the help of manager Wes Kentzel's two homers, scattered 11 hits in recording an impressive 4-3 win Sunday for the Des Plaines Merchants over Cole-Lenzi.

Rowlee seemed to be in trouble in almost every frame but he was tough in the clutch, recording several key strikeouts, nine during the game.

The Merchants jumped off to to 2-0 lead when Don Kilroy walked to lead off and Kentzel followed with his first homer. Aceto's homer pushed Cole-Lenzi into a 2-2 tie in the fifth.

DES PLAINES took the lead again in the seventh when Bob Hamilton beat out a perfect bunt down the third base line and scored on an error. Cole-Lenzi tied it again in the eighth.

Then came Kentzel's game-winner homer in the tenth on the second pitch from Stepnick.

Des Plaines now has a 6-4 record and has a better chance at the second place spot in league play.

Sunday the Merchants meet the Orioles in a 2 a.m. game at West Park in Des Plaines.

DAVE BUREN, captain of Arlington's football team, has fully recovered from a broken leg incurred last fall and is awaiting the official opening of the campaign Aug. 25.

Bokelmann Hurls 2-Hitter, Boosters Wallop Skokie

Veteran Dick Bokelmann twirled his best game of the summer and Black's Boosters displayed a well-balanced attack Sunday in an impressive 9-0 victory over Skokie at Oakton Park.

Bokelmann was touched for only two hits, a single and double, in his nine inning stint and he fanned seven.

The Boosters collected nine hits on their way to the win but not one man got more than one safety. Nine different players rapped base hits for the locals.

SATURDAY Black's will host the Bill Erickson Boosters of Evanston at 3 p.m. at Recreation Park and Sunday Moran Supply comes to town for a 2:30 p.m. tilt.

Arlington jumped off to an early 1-0 lead in the first frame Sunday when Ed Scheppes led off with a double to right and came in on Dick Lloyd's sacrifice fly. Another run in the second resulted from a walk and hits by Joe Jankers and Bokelmann.

Two more runs came across in the fourth with George O'Brien and Bob Getts counting after two hits, a walk, sacrifice and error.

The offensive show continued in the fifth with Lloyd Meyer leading off with a triple to left and scoring on O'Brien's sacrifice fly. Hits by Lloyd, Bill Sprincz, and Bill Sutherland sparked a three-run outburst in the eighth, and Scheppes came across in the ninth thanks to two walks, and an error.

L-Nor Cleaners Ready to Claim Scratch Crown

With only two more nights to go, it looks like L-Nor Cleaners will be a shoo-in as this year's scratch league champion. Paced by Len Arnold's two under par 34 and Bud McKaig's 37, they whitewashed Kamps Sign 7-0 to increase their lead to 5½ points, a margin hard to overcome this late in the season.

Par	443 455 443—36
Arnold	333 454 444—34

The battle now should be for second place as there is only a 1½ point spread between the next five teams. State and Rand Service remained in second even though losing their second consecutive match, this time to Flaherty Jewelers, by a 5-2 score. Wayne Rolfs and Bernie Magnussen led the upset with even par 36s.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of State and Rand's temporary collapse, Lohrs Pharmacy moved into a tie with them by splitting with Webber Paint 3½ to 3½. Dave Borgardt paced Lohr's with a 36 while Jim Neubauer and J. St. Germaine had 37s for Webbers.

Ed Moehling and Wayne Rolfs competed in last week's Cook County Amateur Tournament. Both qualified for match play, but Moehling was eliminated in the first round by another local boy, Bob McDonald, 1-up. Rolfs was much more fortunate as he went to the semi-finals before bowing out.

Close Battle For 2nd Spot In Golf Loop

With only two weeks of play remaining in Mt. Prospect's Tuesday Twilight League, Moler's Barber Shop continues with a big lead for first place. The real scrap goes on, however, for the second spot with Hank's Pure Oil, Licht's Paint Store and Mt. Prospect Bowling separated by only 2/3 of a point.

Outstanding too, has been the rapid rise of the Kruse's Schiltz Team which has gone from twelfth to seventh place in three weeks.

IN TUESDAY, August 12th play, Bannister, the captain of Moler's Barber Shop scored a one under par 34 for one of the best league scores of the season. To do this, he birdied 1, 2 and 9. Other birds scored were Becker on 11 and Driscoll on 1.

With the 18th consecutive season of play in this league drawing to a close, scores were close enough for a considerable change of position in these final two weeks. Here are the standings:

Range Holds Top Position At Rob Roy

Elston Driving Range maintained its lead in the Tuesday night league at Rob Roy by garnering 3½ points in the match with C. P. Flooring, with only two more evenings of play remaining. The three point lead of the Range boys looks mighty imposing.

Art's teammate Ray Monsen shot 39-7 net 32 to lead the No. 2 men for low net honors although he was given a real battle by his opponent Bob Hornbostel who carded a 37-4 net 33.

Ladies Golf Leader Insures Trophy in Rob Roy League

Team play, on August 14 in the Rob Roy Ladies Golf League, put Town & Country just far enough in the lead to practically insure the trophy. Prairie Lee put up a brave fight, when Capt. L. Lewin carded a 37 for the net point, but Town and Country were still able to take five points to knock them back a length. M. Campbell and E. Redman chalked up 37 nets to spark Webber's to a 5½ point win over O'Hare. With only one week of team play left, this gives Webber's a mathematical possibility of a tie with the leaders, but hardly a probability.

Arlington Pharmacy gained the third place slot when J. Jackisch's 35 net led them to a 4½ point victory over Des Plaines Liquor. B. Goettsche's 35 net helped Keefer's hold their position when they took Morava for 5 points. Spiegler's had I. Rentz's 39 net to lead them to a 7-point pushover of Heights Liquors, and a change to gain another notch. Capt. E. Schober's 35 net gave Hagenbring's the push they needed to take 6 points from Senne's.

EDITH SCHOBER had the pleasure of carding a deuce for a birdie on hole No. 4. She also chalked up a 45 gross for the low of the week.

The weekly event was low putts. The first three positions played the front nine, and the last two positions played the back. The winners are as folllows:

Pharmacy Takes 1st Place Spot In Friday Golf

Prospect Heights Pharmacy took over first place in an all point scoop, Friday the 15th, at Arlington Country Club.

After a season-long fight for first place, in which the first seven or eight teams have been very close, Prospect Hts. Pharmacy now has a 4-point lead.

There was lots of good golf shot this Friday by most of the men, and it would be too lengthy to list all the good scores. League play will end on Friday, Aug. 29, with a special tournament coming up, Sunday, Sept. 21. More about this later.

Rapp's Captures St. James Lead

Lauterburg and Oehler relaxing preparatory to playing in the Paddock Tournament as the league representative, were bumped out of first place, losing 4-2 to Murphy Insurance. For only the second night this sewson their hold on first place has been disturbed. With only one night to go, and this a position night, this loss may be fatal.

Rapp's Restaurant climaxed a drive started on June 18th by moving into first place. On June 11th they rested in eleventh position. On June 18th they swept all six points for the evening and have been relentlessly moving up every week since. Since that start they have not had a losing night. With a one point advantage going into position play against Lauterburg & Oehler, they will be the favorite to take the 1958 championship. Leading their play last week was Captain Bud Rapp with a 40 scratch and a 31 net. Eiserman also netted a 31, helping the team to garner the five points necessary to put them into top position.

Prospect Heights Pharmacy finally relinquished its hold on last place, which they had held since opening night. By taking 4½ points from Kindler's Ice Cream they jumped into twelfth place. Bolash and Lear netted 33 each for the individual honors.

L'Nor Cleaners and Glueckert's Lounge still have outside chances to take or share in the league championship. They meet each other in the position play.

Black's Maintains Lead In AH Twilight League

The Black's Memorial team continued with its championship play in the Arlington Heights Twilight Golf League. The most current victim in an 8½-3½ match was Fergus Ford which was jolted from second to fourth. Koops Mustard drove into second with a big 8-4 win over the Mt. Prospect Country club team. Third position is now held by Stan's Standard Service with its 8-4 win over Arlington National Bank. Two nights of play remain in this season, and with several teams still in contention for the season's honors, the competition will be hot.

Low net 32 was shared by five sharp shooters, Harry Lenell, Don McGowan, Jim Cummins, Ken Magnuson, and Ced Crain. Birds were also obvious, led by Jim Smethurst with two, and one each for Len Haines, Walter Kuczynski, Ed Labo, Gail Webber, and Ralph Panek.

The league's second special event, a Two-Ball Foursome, is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday at the Mt. Prospect Country club. The election of officers for the 1959 season will be held immediately after the matches Friday August, 22.

Junior Golfers From Biltmore Capture Trophy

Junior golfers from the Biltmore Country Club, Barrington, won the Merritt Cooke Trophy by winning a three team tournament with a three match score of 234. Inverness, the only local team entered, had a 243 score for second place and Barrington Hills had a 266 total for third place.

Matches were played at each of the different clubs and the winner was determined by the low net average totals for the three matches. A trophy was donated by Merritt Cooke, a sporting goods dealer in Chicago. The trophy is a traveling trophy and, anytime a club's name appears on the trophy three times that club gains permanent possession of the trophy. Here are the gross-handicap — low net scores for the Inverness Juniors in the last match at Biltmore.

NO BREAK FOR COFFEY! Four-year-old Kevin Coffey is disappointed that he can't be the first passenger on the new Northwest Tollway. Lieut. Paul Wells of the Tollway police patrol, explains that the 76-mile tollway from O'Hare airport to South Beloit opens for traffic at 6 p. m., on Wednesday, August 20. Wells poured Coffey's cup over by telling him no vehicles incapable of meeting the tollway's minimum speed restriction of 40 miles per hour will be allowed.

Suburb Housewives Baffle Double-Domed Economists

The shopping habits of northwest suburban housewives would baffle and befuddle even the most astute of Washington's double-domed economists.

THE GENTS who warm the chairs, chew the pencils and prognosticate about the economic health of the country from the inner recesses of their bureaus have obviously never dropped in at local grocery, drug and hardware stores.

Back in May, when hubby was woefully glaring at the lawnmower and European bark beetles were preparing to leave their winter home to attack the elm trees, the economists were seeing signs of an upturn in the nation's economy.

Winter's recession was breaking up and would soon be no more than a dim memory to be written up in reports titled "Phenomena of Economic Cyles—1957-58."

The storekeepers in the northwest area could have told the fiscal prophets a thing or two. Their sales didn't "bottom out" or "start up the rim of the saucer." In plain words, they dropped, drooped, sagged, sang, at least in most towns.

FIGURES of the state revenue departments on collection of one-half per cent local sales taxes showed decreases in retail sales in such towns as Arlington Heights, Barrington, Palatine, Northbrook, Bensenville and Rolling Meadows.

Only retailers in Mt. Prospect chalked up higher sales in May than in April.

What's to account for this deplorable droop?

Did fathers forget to buy a token of remembrance for mother on her day in May? Or do mothers simply buy more expensive gifts for Easter (in April) than do fathers for the May holiday?

Could it be that May was a month when leftovers were served at mealtime in area homes . . . or did the lateness of spring cause career girls to put off purchase of summer finery?

AND WHAT about Mt. Prospect? Did town merchants plot to lure the customers away from stores in Arlington Heights? What is the answer to higher sales in Mt. Prospect, anyway?

The real story might be hidden in the files of the income tax people. Everybody else in the northwest suburbs was broke—wallets flatter than a tortilla—after paying their income taxes in April. But Mt. Prospect has plenty of money to spend. Hmmm . . . perhaps the revenue bureau should send some investigators to Mt. Prospect.

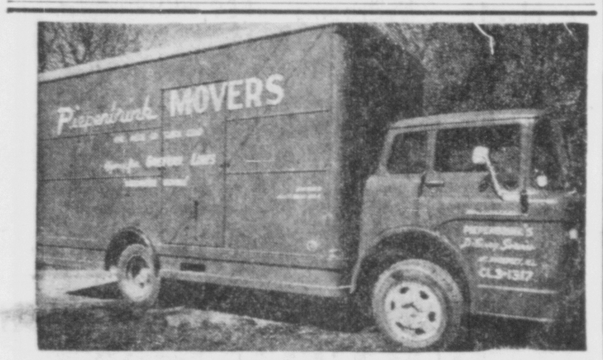

We'd also like to know what happened to all those dollars that weren't spent in Barrington. According to the drop in sales taxes, a sum of $155,600 less was spent there in May than in April. Was the club car set really staggered by the recession or was the money "saved" actually soaked away in stocks, bonds and diamonds?

ANOTHER possibility suggests itself: Maybe suburban housewives hopped on the North Western and hightailed it to Maxwell st. to prowl the open air booths for bargains. But this thought is too treacherous to consider for a moment.

The list of possible reasons could be expanded almost without end: Perhaps there was something in the talk of a buyers' strike . . . families might have been saving for that long-planned vacation trip to Hungry Hound falls . . . a few wily characters might be sneaking up to sales-tax-less Wisconsin to purchase victuals . . .

Attempting to pick the answer out of this list is only confusing us, in fact. Let the brains down in Washington puzzle this one out. That's what they're getting paid for . . . isn't it? (BB

Community Chest Drive Set in Action

Organization of the 1958 Des Plaines Community Chest fund drive is now in full swing. The campaign to aid youth and welfare organizations in this area will be held early in the fall.

Daniel W. Gonaguidi, campaign chairman, has announced the appointment of eight division chairmen and several assistants.

Budget for the Community Chest drive for this year is still in preparation and will be announced in the near future, according to Charles Burgess, president of the Community Chest.

Fund-drive goals for the consolidated appeal, names of participating agencies, and actual starting date of the drive also will be announced later.

Don't Use Pennies When Fuses Blow; It May Cost You Dollars

How important are fuses?

They're the weak link in the "electrical chain" according to Rudolph Brietzke, 15 S. Rohlwing rd., Palatine.

And that's just how they should remain, emphasizes the electrician of 55 years standing.

Like a safety valve for a boiler, the fuse is the "safety value" for each electrical circuit. When a penny is used behind a blown fuse, it's making it the strongest link instead of the weakest link.

When fuses keep blowing, it's a sign there is trouble in the circuit, said Breitzke, who headed the electrical wiring job for Buckingham fountain in the late 1920's.

When a fuse is backed by a penny, it makes the short in the electric wires the "weak link." That is how too many fires begin, by someone using a penny instead of calling a skilled electrician, Breitzke noted.

Overloading is another cause of blown fuses, the electrician notes.

Most circuits are designed not to hold more than 1,800 watts. The number of watts can be obtained by multiplying the amps by the volts — 15 amps times 120 volts equals 1800 watts.

When two appliances which are heavy users of electricity are placed on the same circuit — toaster and waffle iron — fuses are likely to go.

If fuses are being blown under normal loads, then there is a short in the circuit and an electrician should be called, Breitzke said.

When fuses blow, don't use heavier fuses or a penny. Then the "weak link" becomes the "strong link" and real trouble will soon be on the way. (BB

Golden Gate Towers

The towers on each end of the Golden Gate bridge are 750 feet high, equal in height to that of a 65-story building.

Museum Gives Motorists Tests

Candidates for automobile driving licenses can get some helpful pointers before facing the state examiners by taking advantage of the novel series of highway "do or don't" tests in the new "Motorama" exhibit at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

The tests, prepared in the laboratories of the General Motors Corporation, are made interesting to autoists—old as well as new—by a plentiful utilization of the popular "quiz game" type of queries, as well as audience participation apparatus. The latter has been especially designed to enable museum visitors to try out their own degrees of visual, mental and muscular reaction and coordination under emergency driving circumstances.

The quiz section of the exhibit covers 14 groups of questions based on the most common problems met by the autoist in every day driving. In each case the test participant has the choice of three suggested answers.

They are designed to demonstrate what the participant really knows about such things as: — what to do when overtaking or passing other cars; when it is compulsory to come to a full stop; what to do when overtaking school buses; what precautions are imperative at highway intersections; how much distance to keep behind the car ahead under varying speeds; the rules about parking on rural roads; and what to do when your right wheels suddenly drop off the edge of the highway pavement.

In the exhibit section that actually reflects the driver's visual and muscular reaction to changes in highway conditions, the strongest emphasis is on use of brakes and steering gear. Lights that flash on without warning and suddenly changing directional signs are the test participant's only guide to what to do next as he occupies the driver's position behind a simulated automobile windshield. Mt. Prospect Banker At Meeting

Bob Gewecke, vice president and cashier of the Mt. Prospect State bank is attending the School of Consumer Banking conducted at the University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, Va., for the first of three annual resident sessions of two weeks each.

Between sessions students are monthly required to solve problems involving research and study in consumer banking. An original thesis is required for graduation.

The School of Consumer Banking is the only institution of its kind devoted exclusively to training in banking for the individual. Students from all states of the union attend.

Outstanding consumer bankers and professors teach not only the intricacies of modern banking methods but also the psychology of people - what they want and how to serve them wisely and well - in other words - banking that meets the needs of the individual.

The Mt. Prospect State bank has adopted a policy of sending its officers and employees to school as much as possible to aid them in serving the community to the best of their ability. (BB

Lu Staahl Studio To Resume Classes

The Lu Staahl Studio of Dramatics and Modeling will move to the new Pioneer Park field house Saturday, Sept. 6, to resume classes for youngsters during the 1958-59 season.

Registration, however, will be at Recreation Park from 9 a.m. to noon this Saturday, Aug. 23.

This year, the studio's fifth, the theme will be "A History of the Theatre." Mrs. Staahl, charter member of Village Theatre, Inc., and a qualified, certified teacher, will "take" the youngsters back to the time of the cave man, through ancient China and the medieval western world and then bring them up to the contemporary theatre, radio and television of today.

"The Northwest Suburban Real Estate Clearing House"

Are you planning to Stay in Mt. Prospect? Do you eventually want to Build? If the answer to both questions is "yes" - The next question is — WHERE?

Sites in Mt. Prospect are SCARCE! There are a few scattered 50 ft. lots left in various sections. There are some larger lots Southeast and Southwest — these are held by builders who naturally will insist on the building contract. Their lots are excellent, however, and if they appeal to you it would be wise to contact these builders NOW to make some arrangement to hold the site you want. However, if you want the freedom of selecting both your own builder and the time when you want to build — be it soon or 2 or 3 years or longer from now — we'd suggest you find your site NOW — there are precious few lots left where such freedom is possible!

To the folks who are planning to build an expensive home, $30,000 upward, we would like you to make a close inspection of Hiawatha Trail — we believe it will eventually be the prize location in town! Here's why:

1. It's limited — only 38 sites — a little community by itself.
2. It's privately situated. (no through traffic)
3. It's convenient — 5 blks. from town, 3 from St. Raymond's, 4 from Lions School, 4 from the pool.
4. It's picturesque — slightly rolling with a backdrop of graceful willows — and has an approach prettier than any other in town!
5. The guess is gone — you can see the calibre of the homes being built there — ranging in value from $35,000 to $60,000 — they are your insurance that Hiawatha Trail can only become more and more desirable.
6. It is one section of town where flooding can't happen! It is connected directly to the big interceptor sewer and the system is so constructed that no other sewers can ever be added on!
7. Being entirely custom built, there is no similarity — each owner has had his home custom designed. Hiawatha Trail is the only new subdivision possessing this important feature.

The sale of Hiawatha Trail is not a high pressure proposition. we are not in a hurry. We do want good homes. Ride thru Hiawatha Trail — if you like what you see — stop in our office or call CL 3-1101. There are frontages of 65, 85, 90 and 150 ft. available priced at $100.00 per foot. Hiawatha Trail is not cheap — the best can't be. However, terms can be worked out for deferred payment. Take Rt. 83 south from Northwest Hwy. to Lonnquist Blvd. Turn east 1 block.

Service Station Stages Opening

An Arlington Heights service station having its grand opening today through Saturday offers the latest innovation in the industry—gasoline custom-blended to the requirements of individual autos.

Larry's Sunoco service station, 2102 E. Northwest hwy., will serve up the custom-mix from its "Miracle Pump," recently developed by the Sun Oil company.

Station operator Larry L. Becker said the pump can mix six different grades of gasoline and automatically compute prices. A chart in the station tells what octane rating is needed for every model of auto.

"EVERY CAR DOESN'T need the top grade of gasoline," noted Becker. "This new service will allow the motorist to match his gas to his car perfectly and save money doing it."

The station also has three premium grade gas pumps.

Becker moved to Rolling Meadows more than two years ago and his background includes 12 years as an auto mechanic. The station at Northwest hwy. and Waterman ave. will be open from 6:30 a.m. to midnight six days a week and 7:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday. (BB

100 Attend Piepenbrink Reunion

One hundred members of the Piepenbrink relationship from Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Lombard attended the fourth annual family reunion picnic at Elk Grove Sunday.

A committee of four, elected at last year's reunion, planned games and prizes for all age groups, and special awards were given to the oldest and youngest members present. The 73-year-young Mrs. George Niemeyer, 406 W. Sigwalt, Arlington Heights, received the first award and Jimmy Stoeckel, 6-month-old son of the Ralph Stoeckels of Lombard, was awarded the youngest member prize.

As per custom the reunion was an all-day affair and lunch baskets bulged with provisions enough for a noon meal and supper. Games filled the time between and the children enjoyed watching their elders at play almost as much as they enjoyed their own games. After all, it isn't every day a guy can watch his dad shave blindfolded, with a teaspoon.

BESIDES celebrating the occasion to reunite with relatives, everyone helped to celebrate a wedding anniversary and two birthdays. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Piepenbrink of Mt. Prospect observed their second wedding anniversary, and Sunday was also the birthday of Mrs. Clarence Piepenbrink, Mt. Prospect, and Mrs. Leonard Rateike, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Rateike was on the committee planning the reunion, working with William Piepenbrink, Mrs. Richard Runge and Walter Niemeyer.

Four Calves Survive Quintuplet Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Harms hold the four bull calves which survived a rare quintuplet birth May 30 on their farm near Crown Point, Ind. The fifth calf, a heifer, died at birth but the survivors are reported "doing well" on a special liquid ration containing Aureomycin which is made by Honeggers' & Co. of Fairbury, Ill. The cow, a three-year-old Holstein named Hazel, also survived the surprising multiple birth. U.S. Department of Agriculture experts could not definitely estimate the odds against five calves being born at the same time, but Dr. Dean Plowman of USDA's Dairy Research Branch, said it might not happen again for 10 years.

Members Eat, Meet, Swim At Club's Outdoor Affair

One of the combination social and business sessions of Northwest Obedience club, Inc., of suburban Chicago was held in the form of a show committee meeting, swimming, the regular bimonthly meeting and a potluck supper. All of this was held on the grounds of the Justin Fleischmann home, Ela rd., Palatine, Sunday, Aug. 17. Activities began shortly after noon and continued until just before dark.

Attending the affair were more than 60 members of the club from the majority of northwest suburbs, including Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, and Palatine. Also included were Bensenville, Elgin, Barrington, Woodstock, Crystal Lake and Deerfield.

Next on the agenda will be the club's first annual obedience trial, August 31, in the new field house of Prospect high school, followed by the fifth annual dinner at Glendale country club October 18.

Elk Grove Village Leads Suburban Home Building

Elk Grove Village, with a whopping total of 338 permits posted in July, is leading the home building parade among 118 suburbs in the six county metropolitan area. Elk Grove's seven month total is 496. Carpentersville is second with 458, and Skokie third with 422.

Last month was a banner month for the Chicago area home building industry.

July was the first time this year in the metropolitan area that any month showed a gain over the like month of last year, the Bell Savings & Loan association reports.

LED BY THE suburban towns, new home permits totaled 3,407, compared with 3,019 in July, 1957, an increase of 12.9 per cent.

Elk Grove, of course, bettered its July, 1957, when it issued 107 permits. So did Des Plaines, by 32; Arlington Heights, by 4; Mt. Prospect, by 8; Park Ridge, by 11; and Barrington, by 4.

Streamwood, which issued no report in July of last year, reported 190 permits for last month. Wheeling reported two, or 154 less than in the same month last year. Rolling Meadows fell one shy of the 11 issued in July, 1957.

In permits issued other suburban leaders in the metropolitan area include Streamwood in 4th place, Arlington Heights 5th, Palatine 6th, and Des Plaines 10th.

In construction value represented by the permits, Skokie is first with $7,845,550; Elk Grove, 2nd, $7,271,688; Palatine, 3rd, $7,194,290; Arlington Heights, 4th, $5,892,130; Des Plaines, 6th, $4,786,000, and Streamwood, 9th, $4,290,580.

Dirigo Celebrates Move to Suburbia

A BULL IN THIS CHINA SHOP could wreck such devastation. Hundreds of pieces of china and glassware are displayed in the Dirigo shop in preparation for the "odd piece" sale scheduled from Aug. 21 through Sept. 4. The Runemans are celebrating the completion of their move to Wheeling.

Dirigo Fine Table Appointments, Inc., 170 N. Milwaukee, announced Monday a 2-week "odd piece" sale to celebrate simultaneously their first anniversary in Wheeling and the combining of their Chicago and local operations.

The move to the suburbs was completed June 30, with the closing of the downtown store at 70 E. Jackson blvd., after 34 years at the Loop location.

"NOW THAT all stock has been transferred and sorted in combining our two stores, we find we are able to offer many unusual pieces of china and crystal at substantial savings," said Mr. and Mrs. Algot Runeman, proprietors.

The sale will include platters, cups and saucers, serving dishes, and glassware from such manufacturers as Spode, Flintridge, Seneca, Tuscan, Tiffin, Haviland, Rosenthal, and many others. Collectors and families wishing to add to a set or replace a broken piece will find hundreds of items from which to choose, said Mrs. Runeman.

Dirigo, the firm name, is derived from the brand name, Dirigold, a metal alloy tableware first introduced into this country by the Runemans from Sweden. Dirigo means, "I stand out," or "I lead," said Mrs. Runeman, "and Mr. Runeman has tried to make this a business practice as well as a motto."

Later the name of this tableware was changed to Dirilyte, and is now manufactured in this country.

THE RUNEMAN shop is set back off Milwaukee, just north of Dundee rd., in the shade of giant elms. The light, modern showroom, quietly reserved for china browsers, is filled with racks and shelves of bright-colored china and intricately-cut crystal from all over the world.

"We stock items from 20 to 25 countries, but America is well-represented, too," Mrs. Runeman said.

The sale dates were announced August 21 through September 4.

Metropolitan Transportation Report Seeks a Supply-Demand Use Basis

Chicago's two basic needs for solving metropolitan transportation problems are a metropolitan approach to planning and an orderly process for public review and approval of plans.

This is the conclusion of the transportation center at Northwestern university after eight months of study financed by the Chicago Central Area committee and the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. The two civic organizations that paid for the research made it public without comment pending analysis of the report.

THE REPORT says that the basic issues involved are issues of public policy "to be solved, in the final analysis, by the electorate." It maintains that technical transport agencies, such as the CTA, "should refrain from attempting to make these general planning policies and from campaigning for particular plans."

Until planning and review processes are established, the report said, there should be no further public investment in transit facilities unless they can be made self-supporting. The report recommends that "more attention be given to genuine public demand as registered in the market place."

The Transportation Center report urged that private bus and rail companies be given greater freedom on fares and service.

IF GREATER managerial freedom is allowed, the report said, a substantial amount of mass transit and suburban rail and bus service will continue to serve the area on a self-supporting basis. The basic shift from transit to autos cannot be reversed within the present limits of technology, the report said, adding that even increased auto traffic and parking facilities are feasible in the central business district.

The report took issue with previous studies that Chicago motorists are subsidized and concluded that they pay an amount approximately equal to public investment in highway facilities and may even be paying more. The report recommends that highway users continue to pay the full costs of highway facilities, including parking facilities.

THE REPORT contends that regulatory power over private common carrier transportation in this area should be removed from the Illinois Commerce Commission. "It is essential," the report says, "that this power be vested in an agency responsible for this area only, and operated under laws originating and approved by the electorate of this area if any uniformity in public decisions is to be achieved."

In a preface to the report, Franklin M. Kreml, director of the Transportation Center, said that its purpose is "to identify and analyze the basic issues in Chicago metropolitan transportation, thus contributing to the development of sound public policies."

ACKNOWLEDGING "responsibility to be as helpful as we could to all public agencies which have the official obligation of solving these problems," he added, "we have not hesitated, however, to voice disagreement with present thinking, either public or private, when we believed it in error."

The report was written by Edwin T. Haefele, assistant director of the Center and project leader of the study.

The report made the following recommendations:

1. METROPOLITAN approach: "We recommend that official study of the general problem of government in this metropolitan area be intensified, that transport planning be considered as a part of this study and not placed in a special district, authority, or commission. We suggest that greater cooperative effort should be made by the municipalities and counties of the area to the end that general planning policies are adopted.

"We further recommend, in the absence of any publicly approved planning policies to the contrary, that market demand for transport services be the guide-post for any immediate further public investment in transport facilities. We suggest that competent staffs needs to be employed by general government if this guide-post is to be properly read."

2. PRIVATE COMPANIES: "We recommend that the question of restrictions on entry, abandonment, service, and price of passenger service by private companies be officially reviewed and suggest that many such restrictions are not now serving the public purpose for which they were intended, or indeed, any public purpose.

"This recommendation does not contemplate any relaxation of public obligation to set, and enforce, standards of safety and competence and willingness to perform."

3. CTA: "We recommend that the Chicago Transit Authority continues to maintain itself as a self-supporting service, at whatever levels of service and fares which this involves. We suggest that the present level and scope of service cannot likely be maintained economically. We also suggest that further blanket increases in fares in an attempt to do so is not an adequate substitute for a market oriented system and the consequent selective fare adjustments which this implies.

"We suggest that the authority or district device is not an appropriate tool for further integration or consolidation of area-wide governmental responsibilities for transport planning and, therefore, recommend against using the Chicago Transit Authority for such purposes."

4. HIGHWAY COSTS: "We recommend that costs of the highway system be fully recovered by user-charges, and suggest that the collection and allocation of present user-charges be reviewed to the end that the Chicago metropolitan area receives an equitable share of such monies."

In a press conference at which the report was presented, Holman D. Pettibone, chairman of the Chicago Central Area committee, and Joseph L. Block president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, said that the report would be studied by their respective transportation committees. (BB

County Payroll Is At All-Time High

Cook county's payroll has hit an all-time high.

A total of 13,265 persons, the highest ever, were employed in the county's 41 departments as of July 31, according to records of County Deputy Comptroller C. R. Hodgman. Total payroll for July was $5,091,120.42.

The payroll cost is an increase of $155,066 over June, 1958, and a boost of $282,314 over July, 1957.

THE JULY employee total is an increase of 161 over the previous record high set in June a jump of 623 over July of last year.

Departments with the most employees include the county school of nursing (2,467), County hospital (1,584), county highway department (1,367), Oak Forest hospital (1,348), and county public assistance welfare department (1,145). Hodgman pointed out that many employees in the nursing school department work at County hospital.

The biggest increase was in the county highway department where there were 200 more workers this July than in July, 1957. The highway department is tackling the greatest highway construction program in the county's history.

The number employed increased in all but seven departments over a year ago.

DEPARTMENTS where decreases occurred in the year period, with the present number of employees listed, include:

County auditor 161, down 13; County court clerk 39, down 15; recorder 423, off 8; state's attorney's office 211, off 4; superintendent of schools 21, off 4; health department 87, down 2, and county clerk 371, down 1.

Culled here from the July 31 payroll report are the number of employees in some of the other more well known county departments:

Treasurer 478, assessor 423, Family court 238, Audy Home 202, Circuit court clerk 111, Superior court clerk 93, Probate court clerk 75, Criminal court clerk 59, and coroner 53.

The sheriff has 1,105 employees in four departments. They are custodian 151, general office 553, county jail 322, and Criminal court building 79. (B8

Evanston, Skokie Plan for Heliport

Evanston and Skokie need a heliport and should move toward selection of a site for one as soon as possible, the city council has been told.

Its site should be about 25 acres in size and should be centrally located along the boundary between Evanston and Skokie.

Early action should be taken to pin down a site in order to insure against its acquisition for other uses.

The Burke report was requested by action of the Evanston council and the Skokie Village Board in February. Cost of the study was $5,800, with each community paying half. (B12

The Way We See It

Shopping Centers Should Be Planned

Northwest suburbs are on the brink of commercial chaos.

Unless they act quickly to participate in a cooperative effort to develop sound, comprehensive plans for shopping centers, the northwest area will become a "mercantile jungle" of hodgepodge business and commercial building in which few will flourish and many will perish.

Such communities as Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and Palatine are threatened with the haphazard, disorderly development of shopping centers in outlying "fringe" areas.

Such shopping centers are inevitable; nothing can be done, or should be done, to stop such growth in this area. Rather the problem is one of intelligent selection and planning. Where should such large centers be located? Should they be annexed to incorporated towns? How many "regional" and "neighborhood service" centers can the area support? Should they be located near to one another? How will such outlying centers affect the villages' downtown redevelopment programs?

These are questions which should be considered by joint meetings of planning officials from all three towns. A cooperative plan approved by the three communities should be enacted.

The urgent need for such a plan to cover the unincorporated area in northwest Cook county was intensified these past few weeks with the announcement of plans for two giant, regional shopping centers for Rand rd.

Another regional center has already been projected for Palatine by the developers of Winston Park subdivision.

Other shopping centers have been proposed for Rand and Palatine rds., Rand and State rds., Dundee and Hicks rds., and River and McDonald rds.

Ground was broken today for a shopping center at Northwest hwy. and Mount Prospect rd.

Now under construction is a shopping center to serve Hoffman Estates area, and work will begin soon on a 12-acre center north of Palatine and another one at Higgins and State rd. in Elk Grove Village.

These centers are all in addition to existing developments such as Rolling Meadows' 25-store center, Arlington Heights' Elms and Westgate centers, and the partially-completed Arlington Market.

All these shopping centers can't survive; there will be tragic failures — unless there is planning and selection.

Until now, most northwest suburbs have refused to look beyond their boundaries and consider the overall effect of proposed shopping center developments.

Yet, these same communities accept the fact that within their own villages there will be chaos without planning.

At the present time, there is an alarming lack of concern among village officials for the type of commercial development that is going on outside the village limits. This is particularly true for Arlington Heights.

It is not too late to protect the character and economy of the northwest suburban area.

We urge the planning officials in northwest communities to meet and develop a comprehensive program for commercial development in the entire area. Such a plan should take into consideration transportation, population trends, growth potential, and the proposed redevelopment programs for downtown business districts in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

It's time that the villages opened their eyes to what's going on around their boundaries. If we delay much longer in correcting this short-sightedness, it may be too late.

Vital New Artery

Giant earth-moving monsters, gouging and cutting their way across miles of fertile farm acres, have created a vital new artery of transportation for suburbanites—the Northwest Tollway.

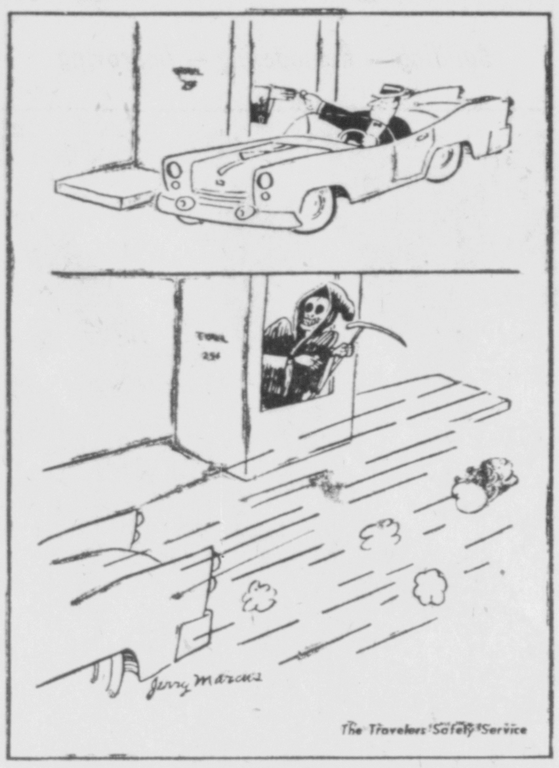

For those who will drive some distance, the new highway will offer higher speed limits and no stop-and-start traffic. And for the housewife who merely gets in the car to go across town to visit a friend, never nearing the engineer's dream highway, there will also be benefits. With through traffic preferring the expressway, local traffic will be much less congested.

The opening Wednesday of the new Northwest Tollway, linking Chicago with Elgin, Rockford, and Wisconsin, also heralds a new era of prosperity for northwest suburbs. These communities can now expect fresh waves of homeseekers, workers and shoppers as the toll road brings new population shifts.

From semi-rural country towns into vast suburban cities—this is the spectacular transition which is carving a new suburbia and a new way of life into the changing landscape of Chicagoland's fastest-growing territory.

Opening of the toll road facilities is another important step in the continuous development of Chicago's dynamic northwest suburbs.

Importance of Open Meetings

As a commissioner of a taxing body, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to offer you my most sincere congratulations on your editorial regarding the new and long overdue regulation requiring open meetings of public governing bodies.

A great many words have been written on the subject, pro and con, but it seems to me never has the affirmative been presented more clearly and succinctly than in your concluding paragraph.

The quoted objections cited by those councilmen whom you questioned are well-taken, understandable and quite, quite true. However, they can be used equally well in favor of open meetings. Certainly "outsiders" (taxpayers?) will inhibit board members from letting down their hair and it is just possible that perhaps they ought to keep their hair up. Certainly proceedings might be disrupted—someone might ask a question—even ask one the board members hadn't thought of. Certainly an audience will complicate proceedings, but in the process this same audience might achieve a better understanding of the multiplicity of problems which must be coped with and maybe an occasional member of the audience will be prompted to develop a deeper interest in the mechanics of their government.

The basic theory of the democratic way of life makes beautiful reading, but to make it meaningful requires work and the widest possible participation by an informed, interested citizenry.

A Call to Arms for THE

I have decided to support the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to THE. And I thought you would like to know it. Why must you always begin news stories about the village board so abruptly, as:

"Board, in its regular weekly meeting, decided to . . . . "

This is most disconcerting, and I heartily appeal to you to restore an honored word to its rightful place in your columns.

You may have seen the column "Editorial Workshop" No. 99 in Editor and Publisher (August 9, 1958, p. 40.) If not, it makes interesting reading.

A Cure for Telephone Pests

Palatine has done a remarkable job of almost eliminating door to door soliciting by the enforcement of a peddlers license. Now we residents seem to be stuck with a new form of soliciting, and the solicitors avoid finger printing and payment of a fee, and we lose our protection.

We are annoyed with many phone calls each week and find that there apparently isn't much that can be done about it.

Recently, in desperation, I invited one salesman out, but soon gave him to understand I would not buy from any phone soliciting and how I felt about this intrusion upon our privacy. He was almost insulted. I received a second call from the company—it seems they were shocked at the thought that anyone could have done such a thing to them.

Perhaps if more of us treated these phone callers in this manner do you suppose we might have a cure for the situation?

J. Koch,
Palatine

Phone Calls Should Be Limited

When will the suburban phone managers get wise and limit calls to three to five minutes and make for their stockholders the dividends they should be getting.

When one tries to make a call to any suburban town you will find the line busy. Usually the user will be a teen ager or some old bag who has nothing else to do but yak-yak and keep others from doing their work.

Many times one reads of emergencies where a call put through could save a life and homes where fires are concerned. Your own paper has given news of this type in many instances where the telephone was the life saver.

This is what the phone is for instead of going over friends and neighbors. Let's limit every call to three minutes and get the housework and meals back on schedule.

Suburbanites Speak Frankly In Letters to Fence Post

'Flagrantly Biased Reporting'

Your front page headline and story about the Rolling Meadows public hearing on the re-routing of route 53 is the most flagrantly biased reporting I have ever read.

The 100 civic-minded citizens whom you called a "mob," "persecutors," and "combatants" were exercising their constitutional right "peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

If our elected officials do not intend to protect the best interests of our city, it is fortunate that Rolling Meadows residents have the courage to voice their convictions. Many of the residents of Rolling Meadows are veterans who spent three or four years fighting a bloody war to protect our freedom. We do not intend to sink into apathy and allow others to do our thinking for us. We are aware that government should not be our master but our servant.

You gave a much more sympathetic treatment to the 100 Des Plaines "residents" who threatened to barricade Wolf road between Oakton and Algonquin unless state or city officials immediately re-route state highway 62 away from this two-block area. These people are willing to take drastic action just to avoid heavy traffic. You did not call them a mob.

Rolling Meadows citizens made no threats although they have more at stake. They are fully justified in protecting their investment. We may not have as high-priced homes as some communities, but most of us have a great deal of civic pride. We intend to make our city a good place to live.

You should confine your editorial opinion to the editorial page and give your readers impartial, unbiased reporting.

I think you owe Rolling Meadows an apology.

Reader Disturbed at News Report

I have reviewed your article on the Rolling Meadows council meeting of August 12 several times. The primary object for the several readings was because I thought that possibly I had read something other than a despicable, contemptible, and slanderous piece of journalism.

Since I had attended the regular and proper council meeting and contributed to the discussion of the problem of the new highway including quoting Mayor Northcote's previous statement published by your paper, I, no doubt, must be considered one of the fist-pounding leaders of this mob.

Under no circumstances, would I ever permit my name or myself to be associated or linked to anything even slightly resembling a mob action. Had the facts been published in your paper as they had occurred, our Mayor John S. Northecote was in a position that became uncomfortable not because of fist-pounding leaders of a mob, but only because of your article contending that Mayor Northcote had quoted a proposed revision to the original plan submitted by the County Road Commission. I attended this meeting only to help present any facts that possibly were not specifically stated in our petition.

I am wondering whether your reporter had noted that immediately after the council meeting had begun and Mayor Northcote made his brief report, that he threw a proposed routing map to the ground which, seemed to indicate that if anyone was disturbed he was the individual. The indication seemed to be, that how could approximately 500 people combined, have the intelligence to even reason on a par with him. The petitioners are only concerned with protecting their property rights and values, and I am sure that I speak for all of them that we purchased these homes because we felt we were receiving the best value for the amount of money we could invvest. All of us have done our utmost to keep this property at the highest level. No one can honestly state that property will not depreciate and, in all probability, to the extent of our equity, should a road be put through, next to our back yards.

From your published description by your reporter of this meeting, I believe that he has spent too much of his educational years reviewing Western thrillers on television, and spending entirely too much time with rabble rousing comic books. In no instance did the meeting become unruly nor was it necessary for the Rolling Meadows chief of police, Mr. Cy Campbell, to restrain anyone at this meeting. Mr. Campbell was in the background at all times.

I sincerely believe that you will not find room in your paper to publish this letter since it involves you, your employees, and your paper. However, I certainly would appreciate seeing this letter in your publication.

Low-Down Journalism

Regarding your highway story in Thursday's Rolling Meadows and Palatine editions:

We were a group of 100 to 200 citizens who were representing 490 home owners protesting our mayor's personal choice for the highway route. That it is a personal choice was well shown at the city council meeting. All of the petitioners and eight of the aldermen were agreed—two aldermen were non-committal and the mayor "stood" alone. All home owners had signed our petition gladly as their only way of protesting and our attendance at the meeting was perfectly proper since we wanted to verbally support our petition.

Aldermen were in our favor and outwardly so and the city council meeting was called to order and closed—in each instance by a motion of an alderman and finally okayed by the mayor. At no time was the meeting considered "out of order."

Your story was a misleading, low-down piece of journalism which disqualifies your paper from the standards you pretend to uphold and further your paper has been of extreme disservice to the 490 home owners who were using the very same legal and democratic processes that you supposedly would recommend.

Hazards on the Highway

I for one am not contemptuous toward anyone who desires to make an honest living, but I am ired when making a living endangers the welfare of others! Those who traverse Arlington Heights rd. between Kirchoff and Golf rds., I am sure are aware of a certain vegetable establishment that apparently has inadequate parking facilities, for on numerable occasions I have been forced to hit the brakes, averting a near collision with one of the customers who is parked part-way on the highway. This stretch of roadway is perhaps the most miserable in relation to the number of vehicles traveling it in the whole village. Let's not make it any more miserable!

For the Good of the Community

Regarding the Re-routing of 53 article in the Palatine Enterprise of July 31, 1958 and editorial in issue of August 7, 1958.

This seems a good bit of truthful reporting, as usual, from this paper and even though I cannot always agree with some of the opinions that come forth from it, I do appreciate its sincerity in reporting the truth and shall always read it on that account.

The above mentioned articles state that both Rolling Meadows and the Palatine communities have routes that they will propose to the Cook county highway officials. This part about the Palatine community seems vague and misleading since it would seem to indicate that the PEOPLE have reached the decision. Just recently at a Palatine board meeting a segment of the population asked, in the form of a petition to the village president and board, that no re-routing of route 53 occur, and it was thought that we were to be notified of changes before they were agreed upon. The chamber of commerce also had a letter accompanying this petition with the same request. Well, if we all have been ignored, then that's it. Some people sort of expected it, but I did not. But that only shows we cannot all think the same.

In a previous issue, the Palatine Enterprise printed the truth about the presentation of this petition and the letter of the local chamber of commerce. It also stated that this writer was in violent disagreement with any re-routings of Routes 14 or 53 and was very truthful of historical facts. It indicated also that what we wanted was some consultation on the matter when the decisions were made about re-routing of the named highways. To date we did not get this chance. By the way, this segment of the village perhaps is a majority segment, who knows, since there is much of the population of the village who voiced disapproval of the highway re-routings in the past.

If we had been given the chance we would have maintained that the present route 53 stay as is, but with an improved railroad crossing and strategically placed traffic lights to facilitate the merging of traffic through the village. Then, in order to not block progress, allow that if the county wanted a new route, as planned, let them put it through and call it something like Alternate Route 53 "Express Bypass," or some other appropriate name. Palatine then would have gained another route and have two excellent crossings of the railroad from the south. This would have been some appeasement.

What do you suppose a master politician, in a case of this kind would have done? He would have made hay out of it and come through the ordeal with flying colors, I am sure. Even a Missouri Mule-Trader would have held out for something additional for his community. If he were defeated, he still would be respected.

With two routes, Palatine would have traffic relief, and those favoring what is now planned would have that route. As it is now planned, we merely have a shuttling over of Route 53 several hundred feet to the East and if that route does not have the "bumper to bumper traffic" as is predicted for the present route 53 (without the new route) I'll consent to a trip to the moon.

I agree that the proposed new route 53 is a fabulous thing for the proposed new shopping center and the Arlington Jockey club and a method for tapping traffic from route 83 at the Lake county line. However, does this not mean the possibility of even more traffic through Palatine? And let no one say that there is any more of a selfish motive in wanting the original route 53 retained, than those that want the new route only!

When dickering with a master-highway layout, one should present plans for the good of their community as a whole. At least when they are providing the county with an excellent thruway through their town. One should be a good trader and get the utmost for what you are giving and do not ignore your fellow citizens, above all. You then have made most of the community happy, you have gained in stature and go on to better things.

I predict now a mounting resentment. And who knows but what it may become a necessity that the present route 53 must be used in times of heavy traffic so what is the result? . . . . Destiny makes a sucker out of you anyway. The wise politician sees this and works accordingly. To go pell-mell into a decision means disaster, many times, and for this very reason the experienced one welcomes advisors.

We hope there is still some way left that will leave the present route 53, at least as an alternate or city route, with a modern railroad crossing. We have tried, in this local matter, and have been bumped to one side more times than one. (With nothing more on our minds than wanting to see good decisions made).

It seems too that some of the local trustees were in the dark on this matter and when contacted were at a loss to explain how this all happened so suddenly.

"Beware of the voters scorned" has always been the master politician's advice to the Boy-wonders politically bent and the part-time politicians. I wonder if many get far ignoring it.

Ray C. Smith
Palatine

P.S. Now comes the Palatine Enterprise edition of August 14, 1958, in regard to the "Rolling Meadows Mob" item. This bears out my prediction of mounting resentment. There is more to come.

Arise and Defend What Is Just

This letter is sent to your public-minded column in hopes that it will clarify the position of the people involved per your headline of August 14, 1958. The "MOB" as you called it was really close to 200 home owners of our city of Rolling Meadows. These people attended the council meeting (as is the privilege of every citizen) to discuss and petition their rights to present the council with their problem.

The meeting was held outside because of the lack of indoor accommodations. The 10 Councilmen and the Mayor had to share the grass and school driveway along with the mosquitoes with the people who attended.

The Mayor over and over again stated that he had been misquoted in the paper. The people who attended the meeting are home owners adjacent to the present highway 53 and south of Kirchhoff rd. They have every right to protest highway that would in any way jeopardize the property value and safety of their families.

Jack Martin, the reporter who wrote the "MOB" article felt that the meeting was in poor taste, and not according to his interpretation a correct council meeting. By his own admission Mr. Martin so firmly stands on the rights of freedom of the press—perhaps the rights of each citizen involved would have been a better platform. It is a sorry state of affairs when citizens of a city the size of ours cannot protest a wrongdoing without having the stigma of Mob attached to their names.

The next council meeting will be held at the Salk school on the 26th of August at 8:30 p.m. Let us stand for what we believe is fair and just—what grievous wrongdoing affects your neighbor affects you. WE ARE STILL OUR BROTHERS KEEPER.

Thank you for your headlines, articles and editorial — they awoke the voice of the people.

Rob Roy Fairways, Scene Of Merry 2-Ball Foursome

PUNCH FOR ALL at the first tee was one of the rules of the game. Marc Law and Georgia Kuranz help themselves before tee-ing off. Other rules forbid anyone from stepping on opponents ball and from spending more than five minutes looking for balls in cornfields. Toughest rule allowed golfers the use of only one club to play the complete ninth hole. Rules didn't state which end of club to use and a few players found it more convenient to use the handles of their drivers as billiard cues in sinking putts. Others were compelled to drive with putters or 9-irons.

COSTUME PARTIES, Hawaiian luaus, swimming parties and dancing parties are almost weekly occurrences in Prospect Heights but none is more fun than a 2-ball foursome golfing party. For those unfamiliar with the term "2 ball," it may best be described as a merry game, somewhat related to golf, in which four golfers take turns hitting two balls.

For the second consecutive year, Chuck and Merry Lockwood, whose home overlooks Rob Roy golf course, have been hosts at a 2-ball, the parties ending with food and fun on their patio. Photographer captured some of the party's highlights, shown on this page.

HUGE GOLF BALL tee marker looks like easy prey to John Kuranz, pictured here just before he "whiffed." John, like most of the party-goers, wore bermuda shorts and appropriate golfing hat.

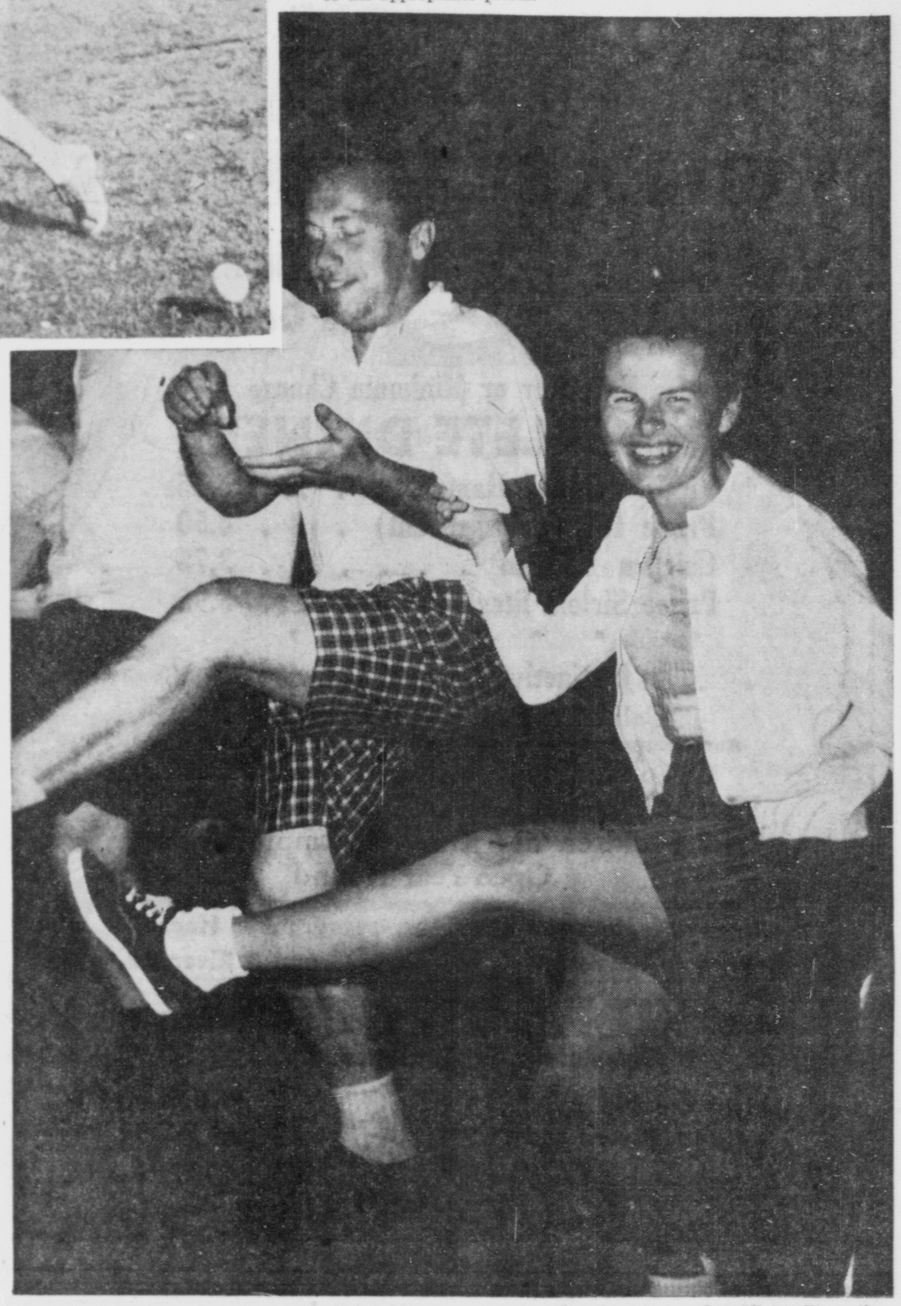

CLOSEST TO THE PIN was the title Virge Milfor earned when she proved to be the only golfer to hit the green. Virge hadn't golfed in three years, but dusted the cob webs from her golf bag to attend the 2-ball. She wears hat which she received as award. Tom Wigdahl, right, looks blithe even though he didn't win one of the appropriate prizes.

DO-IT-YOURSELF sundaes followed complete buffet dinner of ham, potato salad, baked beans and the trimmings served on the Lockwood patio. John Weiler contemplates next layer of ice cream as Donna Wigdahl serves herself. Hope Legare, right, waits her turn.

LAZY GOLFERS used electric carts for transportation on the course. Don McKay operates vehicle which later went "dead" and left golfers to not only walk but tote their own golf bags until cart was replaced. According to Lockwoods' Peoria system, Don and his partner, Marianne Scott, were low score winners, receiving engraved first place trophies. Other awards were given for closest to the pin on the short hole, longest drives, lowest number of putts and highest scorers. Partners were paired by the drawing of lots and then took turns hitting ball on fairways and greens.

CHORUS LINE on hosts' patio included Marc Law and Joanne Taylor. Dancers later formed a "snake" line parading around tables set up in the garden. Lanterns and spotlights lit up the party area for the 30 gay guests.

DANCING ON THE PATIO was final entertainment at the golfing party given August 3 by Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Lockwood of Prospect Heights. Marilyn Law and Jim Helbling try a new dance step following buffet dinner. Jim is wearing cap he won for driving closest to the pin on a short hole.

POURING HIMSELF a drink is Bill Lloyd, right, while Host Chuck Lockwood watches. Bar was set up on patio for thirsty golfers who later dined on buffet supper.

RESTING UP before the 9-hole trek is Sam Taylor and his wife Joanne, who were among couples attending the 2-ball foursome party given by Chuck and Merry Lockwood of Prospect Heights. Sam received award for longest drive as did Lorraine Wells. Party was held at Rob Roy golf course with a buffet dinner following at the Lockwood's home.

August 14 1908

The weather Sunday was ideal for the Old Settlers picnic. But owing to the dusty roads the crowd was much smaller than usual. A few came over from Hampshire and Plato to visit their friends but the old people were not present. The music was extra fine and the ball game good but Elgin band and Des Plaines ball team did not bring the crowds expected from those towns; probably Palatine talent would have been a greater drawing card locally because the people are better acquainted.

Supervisor John Rohlwing of Elk Grove rolled out and dusted his 60 hp touring car July 26, and accompanied by his wife took their friends Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oltendorf for an automobile ride to the Hanover Sunday School picnic. All had a delightful time, greeting many friends. On their homeward trip their auto (being coy and bashful, like a maiden that has always been housed up at home) shied at the editor's fast team and their chauffeur had to make strenuous efforts to keep the machine from going into the ditch.

Hundreds of persons were killed and wounded in a veritable battle between Lettish guards and rioters during disorders in Petrograd. The dispatch says that after the city had been without food for two days a procession of workmen marched through the streets shouting, "Down with the Germans! Down with the Kemlin."

PALATINE — Once again we have been asked to go after Young America with a club. On band concert nights the boys insist on making a lot of noise about the band stand. The band say that the public can choose between their music or the "music" of the kids as there is not going to be any more contests to see which will get the attention of the audience. We guess it is up to the Chief of Police Schroeder to call out the gun squad to curb the spirits of the young fellows.

We have found the most patriotic (?) man in town. He ordered a W.S. certificate from a young lady, accepted it with promise to pay on the morrow. The next day he takes the "unpaid-for" stamp to the postoffice, cashes it and pays the girl the $4.19. Thus he was a Pershing patriot overnight — or would have been had he paid for it with his own money.

Albert Behling is a brave man. He has no fear of thieves or holdup men. Monday he walked down the street with 37 pounds of sugar on his back. He got it honestly, it being the month's allotment for 1,350 meals that will be served at the Behling boarding house.

Frank Frederick Broker was born in Germany in 1849. He came to America with his father, sisters and brothers in 1860. They landed during a sad epoch in the history of our nation for the Civil War had just begun. The brothers worked as farm hands and the sisters kept house for their father. Deceased earned his own living and worked his way forward since he was a lad of twelve. He worked for a farmer and also found opportunity to attend St. John's parochial school. He worked at different places and for the highly respected and well-known old Mr. Henry Franzen. He then took charge of a farm himself and established a household. He married Miss Anna Krueger in 1887. Through dilligence and faithful work and integrity they have established quite a farm. Although the Lord showered his blessings, yet there were many severe trials. He was no doubt thinking of his two sons in service to their country when he was hit by a fast train.

Turkish Police Crack Down On Drunk Driving Menace

by BILL DILLINGHAM

This week the police forces of the world have their eyes pointed in an unwavering line toward Turkey. The reason for this attention is a novel experiment by the Turkish police force to try and battle an old crime: drunk driving.

A violator is sentenced to a 15-mile walk. He is taken to a point fifteen miles from the place at which he was arrested, then told to hike back to his car. A policeman, either on motorcycle or in a car, maintains a vigil to see that the culprit does not take a train or bus.

THIS SYSTEM, it is claimed by Turkish authorities, is positively the best form of penalty for such delinquents. When a fine is imposed, they say, it does not necessarily mean "equal justice before the law." After all, one man may have very much money and another very little. A set fine, therefore, is like giving a rich man a light sentence and a poor man a heavy one.

A slight modification in the new law is made for "elderly men, women and those of unsound legs."

Ten miles, five, or even less may sometimes be the sentence. A great deal depends upon the examining doctor who takes the blood test, plus the arresting officer.

LITTLE CONSIDERATION is given to the man who claims leniency due to a bad heart, poor liver, burned-out lungs, etc. If one can get drunk, it is supposed that a walk in the fresh air cannot be rejected on grounds of poor health.

What effect has this new system of penalty had? Although early to estimate accurately, results look very promising.

To a man who can afford a car in Turkey, a fine usually means nothing, no matter how much it is. He will just retrieve the money again through his houses, land or business. But blisters on the feet are real to everybody. (E8

Turkish Bath Farce Finale For Marengo

The rush is on at Frank Bryan's Shady Lane theatre in Marengo by patrons desiring to view the final two stage offerings at the popular Marengo rendezvous for playgoers.

Both dinner and show reservations for the final two weekends are becoming scarce, the management reported today.

"Glad Tidings," will be current through Sunday.

Next week an augmented cast including six shapely Patricia Stevens models, will offer Avery Hopgood's "Ladies Night In a Turkish Bath." It's a laugh riot concerning an evening of relaxation by a group of femmes. When several tired business men invade the bath sanctuary, due to a poker party raid, events develop that nears riot stage ere the third act closes. Ann Blager, Roy Monsell, Ailsa Dawson, Dennis Drew and Robert Carlson have the major roles. The Misses Merilyn Stevens, Jo Forsberg, Leah Guilliatt, Ann Pettit, Janet Leahy and Barbara Simpson are the inmates of the bath parlors who use terry cloth bath towels as costumes—all custom made—during most of the evening.

Following the final performance, the show troupe will have departed for New York and Chicago before sunset Labor Day.

Village Theatre Has 600 Patrons

Village Theatre, Inc. ended the sale of patron tickets for the 1958-59 season last Friday, August 15. Patron tickets now total about 600 as compared to 497 for the 1957-58 season.

Village Theatre depends greatly on the advance sale of tickets for it allows the organization to budget wisely and produce more ambitious productions for the public enjoyment. The working capital is used in the rental of the theaters, costuming, scenery and other production necessities and last but not least the royalties. "Teahouse of the August Moon," Village Theatre's last production for the 1957-58 season cost approximately $650 for the items mentioned above.

VILLAGE THEATRE can keep up its high standards and continue to grow in quality through the confidence expressed by the public through the purchase of patron tickets.

The 600 patrons will enjoy their preference of seats and night of performance to the four outstanding productions which are on the docket for Village Theatre, Inc. this season. And these patrons will have the knowledge that they are fostering good theatre and helping the organization to attain greater perfection in amateur theatre.

THE HOUSE THAT SECURITY BUILT

Local Couple Living In Arlington Heights

An Arlington Heights couple was united in marriage July 5 in St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, in a 4 o'clock ceremony performed by Rev. Luther Stephan. Neil Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walter, 1650 N. Margaret st., took as his bride the former Sharon Senne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Senne, 108 S. Highland ave.

Organist Donald Hermann played as Miss Barbara Schwieger sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer." The candlelight service was repeated before an altar banked with vases of pink and white flowers.

The bride's gown was of white lace with long sleeves and high neckline and ended in a chapel train trimmed with rows of lace ruffles. A lace hat held the fingertip veil in place, and the bridal bouquet was a white Bible trimmed with a white orchid and streamers of stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Judy, preceded her down the aisle as maid of honor. She was gowned in light pink chiffon with shrimp pink streamers and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and roses. Dressed similar to the maid of honor were two bridesmaids, Ruth Ruhnow and Elaine Boehmer; and junior bridesmaids, Dixie Lea Senne, the bride's sister, and Barbara Walter, the bridegroom's sister.

Three - year - old Bonnie Lou Senne as flower girl was dressed in pink, and Wesley Gillespie Jr., 3, was ring bearer.

Best man was Wesley Gillespie, and ushers were Warren Walter, brother of the bridegroom, and Bob Schaefges.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony in the Arlington Heights VFW hall at which the bride's mother received in a blue nylon dress trimmed with lace, a blue flowered hat and an amazon lily corsage. Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

An Evening of Theatre

Dear Peg:

I'm so glad Donald, our favorite "friend of the family," had a birthday last week—it provided a perfect excuse to buy tickets for Music Theatre's production of "Brigadoon." Really, it seems to take a special event to get us to any of the summer theatres or concerts. We start the summer with all kinds of plans to go to Tenthouse, Music Theatre and Ravinia, at least a few times during the season—and what happens?—we sit on the beach or in our own back yard, growing lazier and lazier, until one day we suddenly realize that summer is almost over and we have done nothing but swim, sit and sun.

To be perfectly honest, I suspect the birthday child would just as soon have celebrated his 47 years by playing bridge all evening (he's absolutely a fiend at the game) however, when I told him we had purchased tickets for "Brigadoon," he was gracious enough to appear pleased at the prospect of a theatre evening. After a rather hurried birthday dinner (delayed as usual by my poor timing and uncooperative unbaked potatoes), we drove quickly to Music Theatre, arriving just as the tent lights were dimming.

"Brigadoon," as you may recall, is a lovely, light bit of fantasy, as gay as a clan plaid and as sentimental as heather. Two young American fellows, lost in a forest in Scotland, come upon an unusual and colorful village called "Brigadoon," in which a wedding is soon to take place. A couple of pretty lassies soon have them in tow and so enchanted that they not only agree to attend the wedding festivities, but to stay in "Brigadoon" indefinitely. That is, until they learn the strange secret of this fantastic place. It seems that, because of a spell cast over the town many years ago, the village and people are visible to anyone else only one day every hundred years, and every hundred years is like one day to the villagers. If you are in Brigadoon after sundown of that one day, you must remain in the village for a hundred years. Though reluctant to leave, the Americans return to New York, where one is contented to stay and the other convinced that he must return to Scotland, and try to again find Brigadoon and the lovely lass he fell in love with. The two find the forest where they first found Brigadoon, but only the one who believes so strongly in the town, the people and his love sees the wise old man beckoning the way to the village. Waving goodbye, he leaves his companion and follows the old man.

Music Theatre has an outstanding group of young talent—the boys and girls can not only sing, dance and act but have a wonderfully refreshing sparkle and magnetism which draws you into the fun of the whole thing.

Outstanding among the stars is Robert Busch who has had the lead in many Music Theatre productions as well as Broadway shows and television. As the companion, Jeff Douglas is an actor with that unusual sense of timing which makes a good comedian. As Fiona, Janet Pavek is lovely to look at, delightful to listen to, but needs a good deal more coaching in dramatics.

Meg Grockie, a real hyper-thyroid type, was played relentlessly by Gerrianne Raphael.

The music from this production is beautiful —You'll remember "Come to Me, Bend to Me," "Almost Like Being in Love" and "There But For You Go I"—

We all enjoyed it very much, in fact I don't think Donald even minded giving up bridge for the theatre.

My love,
Patty.

Elegant Orange Cream Cake Ideal for Someone 'Special'

by LOIS SEILER

If you are entertaining someone special, you'll want to try the elegant orange cream cake we are featuring today.

The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. Robert C. Aldrich who uses it on festive occasions and describes the cake as being light and frothy as a cloud.

Baked in a tube pan, the cake contains 8 eggs (yolks and whites beaten separately) and is flavored with orange juice and rind.

It is filled and frosted with a creamy, smooth orange-flavored custard-like icing.

DELICATE AND light, this delightful cake is perfect to serve during the hot summer months.

It is excellent as a bridge or evening dessert, and makes a wonderful birthday cake!

Another favorite recipe of Mrs. Aldrich is a molded shrimp salad which is similar to a flavorful tomato aspic.

The salad consists of tomato juice, several seasonings, unflavored gelatin and the piece de resistance, shrimp. It may be accompanied with a sauce of your choice, or you may wish to try Mrs. Aldrich's favorite, a tangy Remoulade Sauce.

This good cook has served this tasty shrimp mold often for buffet suppers, and finds that it appeals to menfolks. She accompanies it with a hot vegetable dish and cold meat, such as tongue or ham.

IT IS EXCELLENT to serve for a luncheon, too.

The Aldriches live at 305 We-Go Trail in Mt. Prospect. They have two children: Linda, a high school freshman, and George, who is in sixth grade.

For several years Mrs. Aldrich was active in scouting. She is a member of the South Church Women's Guild and the PTA.

Orange Cream Cake

8 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
2/3 cup granulated sugar
8 egg yolks

Farmers Urged To Check Wheat Seeds for Sprouts

Illinois farmers were urged this week to check their seed wheat carefully and to obtain unsprouted wheat for seeding this fall.

University of Illinois extension agronomist W. O. Scott and plant pathologist M. P. Britton report that a lot of farmers are holding sprouted wheat for seed. Wet weather during harvest caused a lot of wheat to sprout before it could be combined.

SCOTT URGED all farmers to obtain sound unsprouted wheat for seed if at all possible. Earlier combined wheat is more likely to be safe than seed harvested later. Farmers can check their seed by examining the cover over the germ carefully with a magnifying glass. Kernels with only a cracked seed coat are considered to be slightly damaged. If small root sprouts or root and ten sprouts are coming out, the damage is more serious.

If a farmer cannot obtain unsprouted wheat for seed, Scott suggested a thorough machine cleaning that will remove some of the damaged kernels. Then he recommends a germination test.

A wheat grower can get a test by sending a sample to the State Seed Laboratory at the Division of Plant Industry, State Department of Agriculture in Springfield. Or he can run his own test.

TESTS HAVE SHOWN that sprouted wheat can be dried and grown. But the seed will not germinate as well and the plants may not be as vigorous.

Before seeding wheat, Britton recommends treating against seedling diseases and bunt with a fungicide, either Panogen or Ceresan M. Normal seed wheat with less than 16 per cent moisture should receive ¾ ounce per bushel of Panogen. But if some grain is sprouted or moisture is over 16 per cent, then this treatment should be reduced to one-half ounce per bushel.

FARMERS WHO treat with Ceresan M should use one-half ounce per bushel for normal wheat containing less than 14 per cent moisture. But for higher moisture content or sprouted wheat, they should reduce treatment to ¼ ounce per bushel.

Britton also recommends holding off seed treatment until a week or less before planting if the seed wheat has a high moisture content or has some sprout damaged kernels. Otherwise, mercury vapors produced by the fungicide treatment will reduce the germination in storage. (Fm

Rainfall In July Is Heavy

Rainfall at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs experiment station came to 14.25 inches during the month of July, reports L. E. Gard, crops research worker at the station.

Gard points out that for the past 20 years the average for the entire 120-day corn-growing season from May 16 to Sept. 12 at Dixon Springs has been 14.17 inches, or slightly less than the amount that fell this year in July alone. The July total is also more than the amount usually falling in an entire year in the Western Great Plains area.

The heavy rainfall this summer has dramatically pointed out the need for adequate soil and water conservation measures on upland farms, says Gard. If more of the water could be held upstream until the rains stop, the bottom lands would stand a better chance of escaping flood damage. Many bottoms in the Dixon Springs area are reeking with the musky odor of decaying corn, soybeans and other mud-coated crops.

Near the larger streams, watershed planning must often be started more than 100 miles upstream if it is to be effective, Gard warns. Teamwork in watershed control is necessary if the farmer who plants the bottoms downstreams is to harvest his crop in wet years. (Fm

Avoid Leaves In Threes

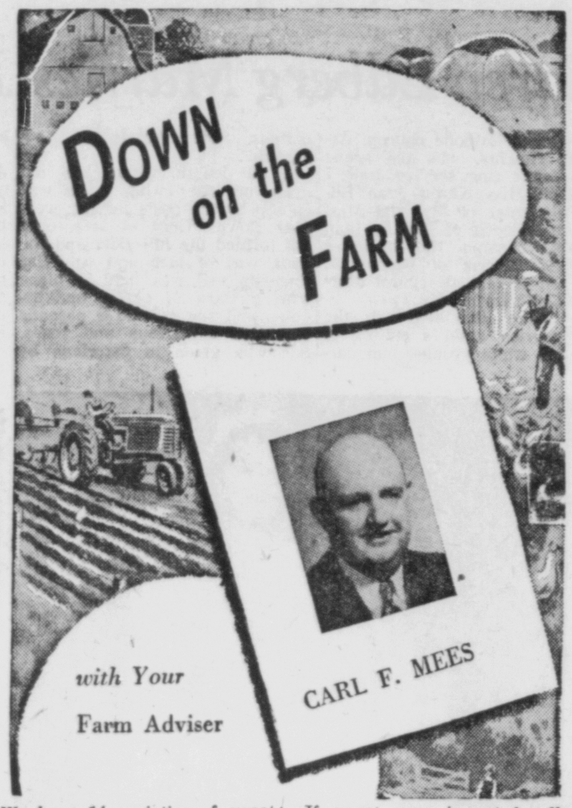

Avoid leaves that come in threes.

This is best advice to picnickers or woodlands strollers who'd avoid contact with poison ivy or poison oak. So says J. H. Pike, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., who points out no one is really immune from the toxic effects of these plants.

Shun any and all vining plants which have three leaves on a stem and chances are you'll never get poison ivy rash. The closely related form of poison oak, with almost identical leaves, grows lustily in sunny meadows. Difference here is poison oak produces stiff stems that stand upright like miniature trees.

Purists who insist upon identifying the offending weeds may regret getting too intimate. Even a brief brushing against the weeds—or inhaling the smoke—may have unpleasant aftermaths. That's because any and all parts of either poison ivy or poison oak are toxic throughout the year.

Poison ivy seeds germinate readily in all types of soil and new suburban lots may be thoroughly contaminated. Normal grading or lawn development have no effect on this and the smallest piece of root will sprout persistently. Applications of 2, 4,5-T, amino triazole or other hormone herbicides offer moderate control. Do-it-yourselfers should wear protective clothing, such as heavy leather gloves and high boots. (Fm

We have 14 varieties of sweet corn growing in a demonstration plot on William Linneman's farm. The plot is located on Church st., just off Algonquin rd. This past week we had a twilight meeting there to look over the corn. It is surprising the difference one finds in sweet corn varieties.

WHEN IT COMES to taste in sweet corn, I think I become an expert. I tasted all of the 14 varieties. My pick as far as sweetness and quality was concerned was Victory Golden. Next to it I chose NK 199. I questioned if NK 199 will ever become a very popular corn because of the shape of the ear. It has a real large cob and not too long. In order for corn to grade U. S. Fancy, the ears must be at least six inches in length.

Iochief was another sweet tasting corn, but is not grown much because it is so hard to husk. It takes two hands to break it off.

If sweet corn is not handled properly no matter how good the variety is, it will still be of poor quality. Corn should be cooled or eaten within a few hours after it is picked if you want really sweet corn. When it gets too old or hot, the sugar turns to starch.

SPEAKING OF CORN I visited Ed Bartz's farm a few days ago to look over a plot of dwarf corn he is growing for us. The stalks are really thick and have a good root system. It is not an impressive looking corn. I doubt whether the yield will compare favorably with the corn he is growing now. We will have a twilight meeting there sometime in September. So if you would like to see it, you will have a chance to at that time.

If any of you are having trouble with your tomatoes rotting, and would like a copy of Circular 683 "Tomato Diseases and Insect Pests," notify me and I will send you one. There will be no charge for it. (Fm

Government Crop Report Indicates Record Yields

The government crop report for August points to total crop production seven per cent larger than the previous record. This record was set in 1948, and equaled in 1956 and 1957. The wheat and soybean crop estimates are at new record highs and corn and oats are at near records.

Some farmers, viewing severe water damage on their own and neighboring farms, may doubt that crops can be as big as government forecasts indicate. This is quite understandable.

While the heavy rains damaged crops in low spots they aided crop development in the much larger remaining areas of the Midwest. Usually water is a limiting factor in crop production in most fields. This year a much larger than usual proportion of the fields have had ample water.

Observations on cross-country flights show that while some communities have been hard hit by flooding and ponding, others have suffered very little damage. The differences are the result of variations in both rainfall and the nature of the land and its drainage.

In the western part of the corn belt and in the great plains, where drouths are common, rains have been ample this year. A drouthy belt has extended across the lakes states and northern plains, but these areas are never highly productive.

CORN. The production of corn is forecast at 3,487 million bushels. This would be 2 per cent more than last year and only three per cent short of the all-time record set in 1948.

SOYBEANS. The soybean crop is expected to be 536 million bushels. This would be 12 per cent more than the previous record set last year. It is the fifth consecutive record breaking crop.

WHEAT. The 1958 crop is estimated at 1,421 million bushels. This is 50 per cent more than last year, and it is 75 per cent more than the average harvest before the government started its program to "reduce production to equal demand."

SORGHUM GRAINS. Production of sorghum grains is forecast at 496 million bushels. This would be 11 per cent short of the phenomenal 1957 crop, but more than double the size of any other.

OATS. The 1958 oat crop is estimated at 1,345 million bushels, or 13 per cent more than last year. It is a near record.

BARLEY. The barley crop is estimated at 453 million bushels, up four per cent from the year ago record.

ADDING UP. Total crop production promises to be six per cent more than the record output first set in 1948 and equaled in 1956 and again in 1957. Feed supplies will be even more abundant than last year, as both carry-overs and crops are larger.

The unprecedented supplies of feed grains (and wheat) will weigh heavily on market prices, put increasing strain on the already overloaded price support program and encourage increased production of livestock. (Fm

Reminds Farmers Of Wheat Quota

Carl M. Bormet, chairman of the Cook County ASC committee, reminded Cook county farmers today of the feed wheat exemption provision of 1959 wheat marketing quota regulations. Legislation enacted a year ago permits farmers to grow up to 30 acres of wheat without penalty provided all of it is used for feed, seed, or human consumption on the farm where it is produced.

ANY PRODUCER interested in growing up to 30 acres of wheat for 1959 under this provision should file an application prior to seeding time. Applications are available in the county office at 201 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, Bormet said.

Producers participating in the program will be required to file future reports on the use of the wheat so grown. An application may be canceled by the producer at any time, but in this event marketing quota program provisions will then apply to any wheat produced on the farm.

Under the feed wheat exemption provision no more than 30 acres of wheat may be grown on the farm. None of the crop may be sold, bartered, or exchanged. The entire crop of wheat must be used on the farm where it is produced. Any livestock or poultry fed must be owned by the producer and it will not be permissible to remove any wheat to another farm for any purpose.

NO MARKETING card will be issued for farms covered by the feed wheat exemption provision since none of the wheat from such farms may be sold. If the conditions on which the exemption is granted are violated, the exemption becomes null and void and the producer will be subject to penalties under wheat marketing quota regulations.

Program provisions permitting producers to market 15 acres or less of wheat without penalty regardless of the size of the allotment will only apply to producers on farms which are not participating in the feed wheat exemption.

UNDER THE wheat program for 1959 farmers now have the following options:

1. Up to 30 acres may be grown on a farm provided all of the wheat produced is properly used on that farm. Written request must be filed with ASC office.
2. The allotment acreage (if any) may be grown on the farm with price support available on the wheat produced.
3. If there is no allotment on the farm or it is small, up to 15 acres of wheat may be grown without penalty and placed on the market without price support.

Milk Tops Drinks in Machines

Milk vending machines installed in several locations on the University of Illinois campus last summer are no longer "on trial."

R. W. Bartlett, University of Illinois dairy marketing specialist, says some people doubted whether milk vending would be successful. But studies show that milk is not only holding its own, but outselling soft drinks.

For example, during 14½ school days last December, U. of I. faculty, staff and students drank an average of 43 one-third-quart containers of milk at each of the 17 machine locations. This compared to an average consumption of 24 bottles of one soft drink and 24 bottles of another per location.

And the price is the same. The vending machines provide the containers of chocolate and homogenized milk for 10 cents—the same as for the soft drinks.

The number of machines placed on the campus has risen steadily. Vending started in six locations in June 1957 and increased to seven in July, 12 in September and 17 in October 1957. (Fm

Conservation State Rates Announced

Basic State rates for Conservation Reserve annual payments under contracts beginning in 1959 were announced today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

These State "average" rates are based on a national average rate of $13.50 per acre as compared with a national average of $10 under former programs. Not all state rates represent the same percentage of increase as the national average increase. The 1959 Conservation Reserve will emphasize whole farm participation, and States with high yields and a larger proportion of harvested land have received more substantial increases in their average rates, USDA officials explained.

On the basis of state rates, State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committees will set average rates for their counties. These county rates will vary on the basis of land productivity, rental values, and the fixed costs farmers will have to meet to comply with the program. Individual farm rates within a county will vary along the same lines, except that in compliance with recent legislation no farm rate may exceed 20 per cent of the land value. (Fm

Delegate Returns From State Fair

Miss Audrey Gronert, daughter of Mrs. William C. Gronert, 2012 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights, recently returned from the 1958 Illinois State Fair in Springfield.

Miss Gronert, who is in her ninth year of 4-H club work, was selected to attend the fair as a delegate from Cook county in the State Public Speaking contest. She spoke on "Responsibility and Leadership" and received an "A" rating.

A member of the Sewing Susies 4-H club in Arlington Heights, Miss Gronert made and modeled a print nylon chiffon cocktail dress which was selected as the top dress in the "College" division of district one. (4-H Corner

Varied Types of Grasses Give Different Results

There are many different types of grass which are used in lawns. Many of these grasses are quite desirable, and have a use in the lawn. Some are easy to handle, where as some require almost constant attention.

The most widely planted lawn grasses in this part of the country are Kentucky bluegrass and its varieties Merion blue and Delta blue.

Kentucky bluegrass is a species which is especially well adapted to this climate, and is often the dominant grass in uncultivated fields. It has a good, dark green color and can easily be identified by its boat-shaped leaf tip. The blue grasses spread by underground rhizomes and thus make a dense sod. A very long-lived perennial, some fields of bluegrass are known to be more than 60 years old.

BLUEGRASS IS primarily a cool weather grass, and in exceptionally hot summers, it may turn brown unless ample water is applied.

When properly managed and fertilized, it remains a very attractive green from early spring to very late fall.

The fescues are a large group of grasses in which there are many varieties unsuitable for lawns, and a few varieties which are very useful. The desirable fescues are the fine-leaved varieties, two of the most useful being red fescue and Chewings fescue.

Red fescue is a creeping grass which spreads by underground stems. Chewings fescue is a tufted type grass and does not creep.

BOTH THE fescues have a bright green color, and are hardy, robust plants. They are especially well adapted to dry, shady places in the lawn.

Some of the tall coarse fescues are being incorporated by seedsmen into inexpensive lawn seed mixtures. These grasses are not desirable in lawns as they do not make a good turf, and are very hard to mow.

Perennial ryegrass is often sown in new lawns and incorporated in grass seed mixtures because of its ability to produce a turf quickly. Ryegrass has a tough stiff leaf, which makes it hard to mow. It is a coarse grass and does not give a good turf in the summer months. For these reasons it is not usually considered desirable for permanent lawns.

THE BENTGRASSES are considered by many people to be difficult to grow. However, there is one bent, commonly known as redtop which is quite the opposite. Redtop has an outstanding ability to grow under a variety of conditions.

It is one of the best wet-land grasses, but also resists drought, and will grow on soils so low in lime that other grasses fail. It is ideal for use in lawn mixtures where quick establishment is desired, because it germinates rapidly and does not offer extreme competition to slower growing, more permanent grasses.

The fine bentgrasses, Colonial, creeping and velvet, are the grasses commonly used for golf greens. All the bents have given good results in lawn mixtures, and it is when they are grown alone that difficulty occurs.

THE HEAVY turf and close cutting needed to produce the carpet-like effect make lawns of bent very susceptible to diseases.

It is necessary to cut pure stands of bent as often as four times a week to maintain the lawn, and the fertilizer and water required can be quite costly.

Bentgrass in mixtures are quite desirable. (Fm

Tree Planting Planning Is Now

Owners of rural land who are interested in planting trees and shrubs in the spring of 1959 should make their plans now. The reason for this early planning, according to Elmer E. Offerman, soil conservationist, is to make certain that planting stock will be available. This is especially true if they wish to use stock from the state nurseries. The supply of most varieties are exhausted by Jan. 1.

The planting of trees and shrubs for the purposes of soil and water conservation, field shelterbelts, protection of watersheds and wildlife habitat, is definitely on the increase Offerman indicated. For this reason, the supplies of nursery stock are depleted early.

The recommended varieties for sloping, well drained sites are Red, Jack and Scotch Pines. On the more level areas or bottomland varieties such as Ash and Sycamore are recommended. There are other varieties, but these are some of the common ones used for these purposes.

Offerman suggested that multiflora rose be planted around these areas to serve as a living fence and wildlife cover.

The State Division of Forestry at Springfield will accept orders as of Sept. 1, 1958, for spring planting in 1959.

Price lists, order blanks and complete information are available by writing to the Division. Information is also available from Carl Mees, at the Farm Bureau Building, in Arlington Heights, or from Elmer E. Offerman, P.O. Box 186, Lake Zurich. (Fm

One Of Every 6 Farms Has 2 Trucks

NEXT TIME YOU'RE DRIVING in the country, look at the vehicles around farmhouses and in the fields. If these are average farms, one of every six of them has two or more trucks. Pictured are the two most popular models used on farms—the pick-up and the stake. The ¾-ton stake is one of 24 stake and platform models offered by Dodge. The high-style Sweptside 100 pick-up is handsome enough to double as a passenger vehicle on trips into town, to church, and to grange meetings.

Soybean Varieties To Be Shown

Visitors to Agronomy Day at the University of Illinois Agronomy Farm on Sept. 11 will have a chance to see the newest soybean variety developed for Illinois growing conditions. This variety, Shelby, will do best in central and southern Illinois and in other states of this same latitude.

Shelby is higher yielding than Lincoln and 5 to 6 days earlier than Clark. J. L. Cartter, director of the U.S. Regional Soybean Laboratory at Urbana, believes it will replace most of the Lincoln and some of the Adams beans now grown. Seed will be released to Illinois, Indiana and Missouri farmers for seed increase in 1959.

The Regional Soybean Laboratory, located at the University of Illinois, works cooperatively with the Illinois Agricultural experiment station at Urbana and experiment stations in 23 other central and southern states in developing soybean varieties. Since 1936, plant breeders have released 19 new improved varieties adapted to all ranges of climate from north to south.

On Agronomy Day, Cartter will show visitors the new Shelby and other soybean breeding projects underway. The University of Agronomy Farm is located immediately south of the main campus at Urbana-Champaign. (Fm

I'M WORRIED

I am worried that in this age of specialization there is no longer a small company that needs a young man to learn all phases of a business. My background consists of a formal education in General Business, 4 years of military service, and several years with a large Chicago Corporation. Salary is secondary to me and depends solely on your evaluation of my worth. I would be willing to work for expenses for a few months to give us a chance to evaluate each other. I would like a firm in a north or northwest suburb of Chicago but this may be wishful thinking. I want a firm that I can grow with and my dream is to be permitted to purchase an interest if I prove myself. Write Box A-50, c/o Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights.

Evanston Dutch Elm Toll Nears 100

With a record of 71 elm trees already destroyed by Dutch elm disease this summer, Evanston park officials this week said the season's peak will probably not be reached for another 10 to 14 days.
Although only three new cases have been identified in the past week, ending Saturday, officials pointed out that city and state chemists are testing numerous samplings from the city. Early summer predictions were that a possible 150 trees would be destroyed by Dutch elm disease in Evanston this summer.

Shopping Prospect Heights

by CAROL BUNTING

The House of Yvonne, has recently opened its doors in its new and enlarged quarters in the Prospect Heights shopping center.

The shop, which has been serving the residents of this area for nearly two years, has just moved to its third location. New lines and the need for more space have made it necessary for the gift shop to expand as its customers created a demand for more and more lines.

The new stores, which have been opened as one, contain a line of distinctive gift items for every occasion. They have also expanded their department of women's wear to include such things as gowns and pajamas, and slips as well as a large assortment of scarves, gloves, jewelry and accessories. The lingerie line being carried by the House of Yvonne is varied to include the elegant items as well as everyday serviceable lingerie.

The shop has also expanded its handbag line and are presently showing their selections for Fall.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHES have become a big thing with the House of Yvonne and in their new location they have more room to stock and display more items.

The baby and girls department includes coats, dresses, and play clothes in infants sizes through 6X as well as a complete selection of layette items for the new baby.

One of the new and distinctive departments that the House of Yvonne has included is their Boys Corral. This entirely separate department for young men has been set up by the House of Yvonne and with a western motif. It includes boys jackets, pants, shirts and all types of accessories.

A permanent sale booth has been established in the shop and it will contain all types of items. New merchandise will be found in the sale booth all the time and the price conscious shopper will find this a good place to browse through frequently.

You don't even have to go outside to enter the Town and Country sportswear shop from the House of Yvonne. A door has been opened between the two and customers may browse from one shop to the next.

Town and Country is featuring their back to school and fall collection of sportswear at the present time. They have a large group of fall skirts on their racks already and expect more than a hundred more in the near future. Pleated skirts, straight skirts and many with dyed to match sweaters are available at Town and Country. They also have a large selection of slacks for fall.

IN CASUAL dresses the easy relaxed look of the modified chemise is the thing for the fashion-conscious female. Two piece chemise dresses, coordinated outfits and bold plaids are at the top of the fashion list.

Jumpers are again popular this fall in both the fitted styles as well as the loose relaxed styles. Rusts and soft greens are two of your more popular colors.

In the sweater department bulky knits are plentiful at Town and Country as well as crew neck styles. Boat necks and large collared sweaters will also be shown this fall. Sweater fashions are longer and fuller than previously worn. Novelty sweaters will also be popular and available at Town and Country.

Lessons In English

By W. L. GORDON

OFTEN MISUSED

"Number" may take either a singular or plural verb, according to the sense intended. When the total is meant, "number" is treated as singlar. When the individual units are referred to, "number" takes a plural verb. Thus: "The number of pages in the book IS two hundred." "A number of pages ARE illustrated."

Do not use "transpire" in the sense of "happen." "Transpire" means to come to light; to become known. Thus: "The news of the battle did not transpire until several days after it had been fought."

"Indexes" is the English plural, while "indices" is the Latin plural. The latter form is used chiefly in mathematics and other sciences.

Do not say, "I forbid you from entering the house." Say, "I forbid you TO ENTER the house."

Do not use the adverbs "twice" and "thrice" as adjectives. Thus: "The TWOFOLD (not 'twice') traitor was finally apprehended." "He had escaped arrest THRICE before."

Do not say, "The man with the cane is him." Say, "The man with the cane is HE."

Remember that the verb "rise" does not take an object, while the verb "raise" always takes an object. Thus: "The audience will RISE when he RAISES the flag." Avoid "raise up" and rise up."

Do not say, "He was with us throughout the whole week." Omit "whole," since "throughout" means from end to end of, or in every part of."

Do not say, "I think the child done very good." Say, "I think the child DID (or, HAS DONE) very WELL."

Avoid the expression "just recently." Since "recently" means not long ago, a short time past, the "just" is not needed.

Do not say, "WE need your help badly." It is better to say, "We need your help VERY MUCH."

Do not say, "I didn't get to go." Say, "I didn't HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY to go."

WORD STUDY

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

EXPULSIVE; having the power of driving out or away. "New loves have an expulsive power."

CASHIER (verb); to discharge; to dismiss with ignominy. "Because of his perfidy, it was decided to cashier the accountant."

Q. Is it all right to use the telephone to thank a person for sending flowers?

A. Yes, and telephone immediately. A note of thanks, however, is still better.

Q. When serving tea to dinner guests in my home, is it considered proper to serve them each a cup with its individual tea bag?

A. This is not in best taste. Somehow, the sight of a limp and dripping tea bag being lifted from its cup is not very attractive. Much better to put the tea bags in a teapot, pour boiling water in, let the bags steep properly, then pour your tea into the individual cups.
